

WHO'S BOSS OF THIS STRIKE? WHY IS HE IN HIDING?

By ROCH BRADSHAW

WHO ordered Angel Rojas' leg nearly shot off? Who decreed that Special Deputy Sheriff M. A. Patterson's head should be clubbed?

Who instructed citrus strike agitators to beat Charles Wagner, grower, about the head with a chain? Who told the strike sympathizers to beat up E. M. Edwards and Special Deputy Sheriff W. E. Whittemore?

On whose orders were Juan Rodriguez, A. Mike and Ceferino Arroyo, clubbed on the head so that they were rushed to the Fullerton hospital for treatment?

More than 150 Mexicans, supposedly strikers, were herded into the "bull pen" of the county jail here yesterday afternoon. There were jokes and laughter on their lips as they mingled in the big concrete court. They were enjoying their experience.

When a newspaper photographer pointed his camera at them, they waved and cheered. They played a little game with him and ran under shelter so he couldn't photograph them. When the photographer appeared at the opposite end of the bull pen, the laughing crowd dashed back again to another spot where he couldn't snap them. It was fun playing hide and seek.

At THAT moment Patterson, with his head swathed in a bloody bandage, was groaning in pain in the Fullerton hospital. Probably some one of the carefree prisoners in the bull pen inflicted those wounds. Who told him to do it?

At that moment Angel Rojas was tortured by pain while physicians wondered if they could save the leg that had been nearly torn off by buckshot. At that moment Special Deputy Whittemore and other victims of violence were suffering from beatings inflicted by agitators.

Who incited these men to launch guerilla warfare in Orange county?

the laughing prisoners in the county jail to blame? Or should the responsibility be placed on the shoulders of some other person who lingered in the background while heads were being cracked?

THE STRIKERS did as they were told. They obeyed orders from the Boss. They did their job well. When it was over and they were in jail, they relaxed. They evidently were convinced they had done the right thing. Lots of these fellows were just boys, easily led, easily excited. They thought they had done the right thing, apparently.

Who told them that? Who is the Boss they were so anxious to please?

On whose orders are families of the strikers facing a long lean spell without money for clothes and food? They can last a couple of weeks more. After that, what?

What about their children? On whose orders will they go hungry? What did these families have to eat last night while their men were fed by the county?

On whose orders must Orange county taxpayers foot a bill for extra officers to guard men who merely want to work? Who decreed that a working man must risk his life in order to pick oranges and earn food for his family?

WHY ARE Orange county's people lined up against each other in battle lines? Why must red blood be spilled in order that the golden juice of the orange may be sent to those who need it?

Who provided the leadership in this strike? The pickers are said to be ready to return to work for six cents a box; if certain demands are met. Who formulated those demands?

If only a little negotiation is necessary to insure peace and prevent bloodshed, why do the pickers continue to strike? The growers contend the strike leaders are outside agitators. If the pickers are sincere in their desire to work, have they not some one or more of their own number, known to the growers, who can act for their interests?

With men's bodies beaten and torn, Orange county today is

NIGHT RIDERS SWOOP THROUGH STRIKE AREA; BLOOD SHED IN GUERILLA WAR

City Will Spend Half Million In Next Year

BUDGET GETS COUNCIL'S APPROVAL

Provides Salary Boosts But Is Lower Than Last Year's

With no more show of emotion than a bus passenger displays in buying a two-cent newspaper, Santa Ana's city council last night approved an operative budget calling for expenditures of $557,825 during the fiscal year which opened July 1.

Councilmen had hashed over the budget plans with City Auditor Lloyd Banks, so all that was required last night was formal action. Councilman Ernest Layton moved adoption of the budget and Councilman Plummer Bruns seconded. There was no discussion and no opposition.

Salary Boost

The figures, prepared by City Auditor Lloyd Banks, include a recent salary increase of $12,000 per year and a like figure for repairs for the joint outfall sewer.

Last year the city budgeted $606,714 and spent $623,453.19, but with both taxes and other sources of revenue running higher than estimated, the city wound up with a surplus of more than $32,000.

Taxes $340,750

Salaries will claim the largest single item of the 1936-37 budget, a total of $277,325. Other items are fixed charges, $148,600; capital outlay, $25,550; relief projects, $15,000; repairs, $4500; supplies, $39,200; general government, $4,950; library, $31,700; maintenance of equipment, $19,000; outfall sewer, $12,000.

The budget anticipates $340,750 in taxes and $257,250 from other sources.

DEATH CHARGE DISMISSED

Negligent homicide charges against Ellery G. Adair, 22, of Huntington Beach, were dismissed in Superior Judge H. Ames' court here today on motion of Deputy District Attorney C. E. Sprague.

Adair had been held on a charge accusing him of causing the death of Librado Rocha as the result of an accident near Adams street and Harbor boulevard, Costa Mesa, on May 16. Rocha died April 29.

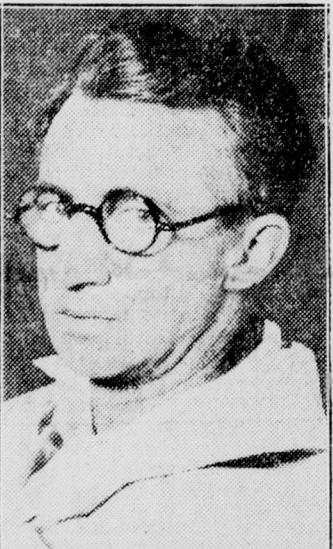

L. W. Blodgett, attorney for Adair, said Rocha's death certificate showed Rocha died of pneumonia in the county hospital while under treatment for a broken arm and fractured ribs sustained in the accident.

WOMAN TO SPRING TRAP

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP)—A hand that rocked the cradle in the rearing of four children will spring a gallows trap to send a convicted rapist-slayer to death.

Asserting it "comes in my line of duty," Mrs. Florence Thompson, 42-year-old sheriff of Daviess county, announced she would serve as executioner July 31 when Rainey Bethea, 22, negro, is scheduled to hang for the June 7 assault-slashing robbery of 70-year-old Mrs. Eliza Edwards. A widow, Mrs. Thompson, is the mother of three sons and a daughter.

Death Probed

Peace authorities pressed an investigation into the mysterious death of Junius Cravens (above), 35, San Francisco newspaperman and art critic, whose body was found on an ocean beach south of San Francisco. He had been missing from his home four days. (Associated Press photo.)

FOUR MILLION FOR SCHOOLS

Budgets for 54 Districts Made Public Today by Superintendent

Orange county schools plan to spend nearly four million dollars in the 1936-37 fiscal year. This imposing total was reported today by County Superintendent of Schools Ray Adkinson as he compiled the annual budget for the 54 districts. The reports, with his changes where necessary, will be returned to school boards by July 10. Public hearings and final adoption of budgets are scheduled for August.

Santa Ana Outlay

Totals showed $3,400,231 for operation and maintenance, $561,456 for capital outlay, and a grand total of $3,970,687.

Hands Off Danzig, Germany Warned

WARSAW. (AP)—The official Polish press today warned Germany to keep her hands off the free city of Danzig.

"Danzig's separation from the League of Nations is not acceptable to Poland which does not agree to a change in the legal status of the free city," said the newspaper Kurjer Poranny.

AUTO CAMP IS ANNEXED TO PARKWAY

Council Pays $11,000 for Area Over Objection Of Joe Smith

And so the vote was four to one.

When Councilman Ernest Layton last night proposed that the city buy for $11,000 the Santa Ana auto camp at North Main street and Santiago creek to enlarge and furnish an entrance to the present Santiago park, Councilman Joseph P. Smith opened fire with both barrels and predicted:

"The vote will be four to one as usual, but I want to object to buying more land in the creek bed. We bought one piece for $4000, then another for $2000; then another for $3000. Now you want to spend $11,000 more."

He was right. The council voted four to one in favor of entering an escrow, which Mayor Fred Rowland and City Clerk E. L. Vegely were to sign today. The camp is owned by Evan and Emily Jones.

City Auditor Lloyd Banks, called upon by Councilman Layton, reported that with a $32,000 surplus left from last year, the city could buy the property without raising the tax rate.

"If we didn't spend it, couldn't we reduce the tax rate?" queried Smith. Councilman admitted they could.

"And if we hadn't raised salaries?" Smith asked. (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

NATIONALS WIN CLASSIC, 4-3

NATIONAL LEAGUE PARK, BOSTON. (AP)—The National league emerged with its first triumph in four all-star ball games with the American league today, winning 4 to 3, before the smallest crowd that has yet witnessed the annual classic.

A pair of two runs spurts, the first off Bob Grove in the second inning and the next with Schoolboy Rowe pitching, in the fifth, gave the Nationals a margin that they were hard pressed to protect in the last three frames.

Lou Gehrig's home run in the seventh touched off a three-run rally by the Americans that knocked out Curt Davis, Cub righthander, from the box, but Lon Warneke stepped in to stop the fireworks.

She'll Be Bride

Mrs. Ruth Owen, 50, U. S. minister to Denmark and daughter of "The Great Commoner," the late William Jennings Bryan, admitted today that she soon will wed Capt. Boerge Rohde, 42, honorary gentleman groom to King Christian of Denmark. It will be Mrs. Owen's third marriage.

DANE TO WED RUTH OWEN

U. S. Minister Admits Engagement to King Christian's Groom

COPENHAGEN. (AP)—The approaching marriage of Mrs. Ruth Owen, United States minister to Denmark, to a tall, fair-haired captain of King Christian's bodyguard, was announced today by the captain's mother.

The prospective groom is Capt. Boerge Rohde, 42 years old and bearing the title "Kammerjunkner"—honorary gentleman groom to the king.

He was reported on his way to the United States, and it was said he would join Mrs. Owen there within the next few days.

It was understood the wedding would be July 10 in the Long Island home of Mrs. Owen's daughter, Mrs. Robert Lehman.

Mrs. Owen reached the United States last Sunday on a 60-day leave.

Captain Rohde is fair, handsome, and more than six feet tall, for height is an essential for admittance to the king's bodyguard. (Please Turn to Page 9, Col. 4)

COMING: 'MURDER TONIGHT'

New Serial Starts Friday

The news of Arthur Burdett's murder fell with dramatic suddenness on Nellie Reeves' dinner party. With a force equally disturbing it made suspects of a number of quiet country folk to whom the simple joys of English village life were to be preferred to the glare of publicity which the tragic event had brought on them.

Arthur Burdett is the old miser whose untimely end gives the name to "Murder Tonight." Lawrence W. Meynell's new story, which starts Friday, July 10, in The Journal. His standing in the community was evident to Detective Inspector Hyton as soon as he arrived and plunged into the mystery. Tears for the departed were absent, and few too were the clues for which an earnest detective must be on the lookout, and eyes attentive and well-thumbed notebook unlimbered.

That notebook soon was to contain a number of significant jottings, not the least of which pertained to the Reeves party. There was, for instance, this matter of Dale Shipley's late and unexpected arrival. Hadn't it taken Dale an inordinately long time to make the short trip from his home to the Reeves place? Could the delay have been due to a visit to his uncle on the way, perhaps the renewal of the bitter quarrel which townfolk were to remember later?

COMMODITIES SOAR WITH DROUGHT

Crop Losses Increase, Prices Skyrocket as Mercury Goes Up

CHICAGO. (AP)—Driven by the fifth consecutive day of record-shattering temperatures and no indication of a break in middle America's prolonged drought, grains and commodities soared to new seasonal highs today.

The Farmers National Holiday Association appealed to President Roosevelt and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to abandon production curtailment measures in the parched farm belt.

Crop Losses Advance

The swift upward movement in commodity prices came as a searing sun raised the mercury far above the century mark in many official thermometers, crop losses advanced toward the $300,000,000 level and pessimism mounted.

Since the drought first became serious three weeks ago wheat prices, now 2 to 3 cents higher than the 1935 peak level, have advanced about 23 cents a bushel as conditions have become critical.

Commodities Skyrocket

Corn has gained 18 cents, oats more than 10 cents and butter futures almost 6 cents a pound. The latter are the highest since January. (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

GALLIPO TO BE TRANSFERRED

Captain C. W. Gallipo, in charge of Salvation Army headquarters here for the past two years, will leave Monday for a new post, he announced today.

Orders from territorial headquarters in San Francisco transferred him to Colorado Springs, Co., to assume control there. No successor has yet been named, although an appointment is expected within the next two days, Captain Gallipo said.

He and his family will be given a farewell meeting by Army members Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock at Salvation Army headquarters.

Defies League

Defiance of the League of Nations was declared by Dr. Arthur Karl Greiser (above), president of the senate of the free city of Danzig, who said Danzig would refuse to heed the league if the city's affairs were the subject of discussion at Geneva. (Associated Press telephoto.)

SOIL SETUP MODIFIED

AAA Makes Change to Cope With Drought In Middle-West

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Modification of the soil conservation program to encourage "the widest possible conservation of forage" in the midwestern drought area was announced today by the AAA.

Meanwhile a White House conference on the drought crisis was called for this afternoon by President Roosevelt as weather bureau predictions forecast continued aridity and "abnormally high" temperatures for the affected area.

AAA officials said the modifications would apply to officially designated emergency drought areas to be named later this week, principally in North Dakota, Montana and Wyoming.

The change was made, they added, to preserve all available forage for livestock feed and to encourage the planting of forage and feed crops for use during the coming fall and winter.

Farmers in designated counties may comply with the soil conservation program under the modified regulations and still receive subsidy payments, it was said, or they may comply with the original regulation, depending upon drought damage on their individual farms.

PARALYSIS HITS S. A. CHILDREN

Two four-year-old children and one 10-year-old child, all of whom live within a block of each other in Santa Ana, were under treatment today for infantile paralysis at the county hospital.

County Health Officer Dr. K. H. Sutherland, in verifying the report, asked that Santa Ana parents take immediate steps to check any signs of ill health in their children, and to report any illness to a doctor or to county health authorities.

He stated that the paralysis was of the mild type.

The children are Ronald Merker, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Merker, 1033 West Camille; Richard Gillaspay, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan R. Gillaspay, 946 West Camille; and Irene Sargent, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sargent, 1025 West Camille.

Agitators Burn Truck; Growers Arm New Forces

By FRANK ORR

Lines of battle were drawn up today for a second outburst of strike violence and bloodshed which spread terror through Orange county yesterday and today.

The old "vigilantes" were revived last night. In 50 cars, American men whose blood was hot over injuries to guards in citrus groves, rode through the county ready to meet violence with violence.

Comparative quiet prevailed until early morning when another explosion occurred and a picking foreman's truck was smashed and burned in La Jolla.

Dozens of new picking crew guards were being armed and sworn in as deputies. Twelve additional highway patrol officers rushed here from surrounding counties.

Expect New Attack

Virtually taking their lives in their hands, orange pickers returned to their work today. Nearly full crews were at work. An air of tension hung over the citrus area as rumors spread like wild fire that a fresh attack was to be made this afternoon.

At 3:30 p. m. today Mexican strikers were scheduled to meet with merchants at Gonzales hall here. The merchants hope the strike can be ended.

Yesterday's battles, occurring simultaneously on three fronts and spreading to other groves, ended with one man shot, one "very low" in a hospital from a beating by strike sympathizers, at least 10 (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

AMERICANS IN KWANGSI FLEE

PEIPING. (AP)—All American residents of Kwangsi province except two have evacuated to Nan-king in fear of hostile activities, dispatches to the United States embassy said today.

The American colony has also left the area around Kweilin after Chinese authorities ordered the evacuation of native women and children. The city was reported in a state of preparedness to defend itself against bandits and straggling soldiers.

THREAT MADE AT MORGAN

Lewis to Prosecute If Lawlessness Develops From Union Drive

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Threatening to prosecute J. P. Morgan and Company if "lawlessness" develops, John L. Lewis today signalled full speed ahead in the campaign to bring 500,000 steel employees into the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

In a radio speech last night, the head of the committee for industrial organization charged that the "overlords of the steel empire" had declared "civil war" against the unionization drive.

On the heels of a prediction that the industry would "deliberately provoke strife and bloodshed" at the mills to discredit organizers and intimidate workers, Lewis said the high and low in steel would be brought to "justice" if infractions of the law were uncovered.

Lewis listed J. P. Morgan and Company, "which controls the United States Steel Corporation," other bankers, corporation officials and "their armed guards, or other hirelings and mercenaries" as among those who might be held accountable for breaking the law.

Lewis charged that the American Iron and Steel Institute, employers' organization, had already "contravened the law" by publishing in the daily press its position toward the campaign. He interpreted this statement as pledging "the vast resources of the industry against the right of its workers to engage in self-organization or modern collective bargaining."

STATE GIVING $20,000 FOR RUM PROBE

Governor Will Advance Money from Secret Service Fund

SACRAMENTO. (P)—Twenty thousand dollars will be made available to the assembly audit committee to continue its investigation of alleged graft and corruption in liquor enforcement, if there is no legal bar, Governor Merriam announced today.

The money will be taken from the governor's secret service fund and will be used to employ a special counsel and six secret investigators who will be unknown to the public and function like the "Secret Six" of recent Chicago fame.

It will also be used to pay for clerical help and the expenses of the committee.

MORE ABOUT STRIKE

Weapons Confiscated

Jail facilities here and at Fullerton were taxed to capacity today, as hundreds of Mexicans were locked in cells and courtyards. Three hundred persons were in the county jail here last night, including 160 Mexicans herded in yesterday by sheriff's officers and California highway patrolmen.

Knives, clubs, guns, chains, and blackjacks were confiscated by the dozen as officers "shook down" traveling caravans of Mexicans and "rode herd" on them to the jail.

'Vigilantes' Ride

One hundred fifty-five were booked here on suspicion of riot, for which they may receive maximum sentences of two years in the county jail plus a fine. Others were booked on trespassing, picketing, motor vehicle code violations, and suspicion of felony.

A vigilante caravan of 40 to 50 cars of Americans at 11 o'clock last night made the situation tense at Placentia when it moved up to a strike meeting. Chief of Police Gus Barnes reported no violence, although the visitors were armed with clubs and seemed anxious to retaliate for the beatings given growers and foremen in the afternoon.

M. A. Patterson, Fullerton foreman, was reported in a grave condition at Fullerton general hospital from a beating received when a band of strikers raided the Cooper ranch on Chapman avenue.

Grower Attacked

Angel Rojas, Fullerton, is in the county hospital with severe leg wounds sustained when a shotgun was fired into a group in the same fight. Charles Wagner was beaten over the head with a chain by a group of strikers, and Sam Hunsaker, a foreman, was badly beaten when a band of strikers moved into a grove on the Earl Tucker ranch.

Wagner, a grower, is a director in the Placentia Mutual Orange Growers association.

An aged Mexican picker, Tomas Vega, El Modena, was credited by officers today with saving the life of E. M. Edwards, crew foreman and special deputy sheriff, when a group of strikers rushed Edwards at Tarr and Collins roads yesterday.

Sneaking up behind him, the strikers beat him over the head with a rock, beat him over the head with his own shotgun, and were kicking him, officers said. Vega rushed up and beat off the attackers, being cut and bruised about the head in doing so.

Wide Battle Front

W. E. Whittemore, special deputy, was badly beaten at La Habra, Placentia, and Anaheim almost at once, as though the strikers had acted on a pre-arranged schedule.

Radio cars were kept speeding from one grove to another as the rioting spread, and in several cases had to use clubs to effect arrests as the Mexicans charged them with clubs, knives, and chains.

Face Assault Charges

Thirteen of the prisoners were to be arraigned today in Anaheim on riot charges by Deputy District Attorney James L. Davis. Others were being held pending filing of formal charges.

Eleven Mexicans were facing charges of assault with a deadly weapon following their arrest near Fullerton yesterday by Fullerton police.

After yesterday's battles were over, officers reported the situation quiet, except for meetings in several places.

Truck Burned

A truck driven by Joe Rodriguez was smashed and burned at 3 a.m. today at La Jolla camp, it was reported. Guards in several cases yesterday fired over the heads of attackers, and today had been ordered to fire directly on the gangs if it seemed necessary to prevent the crews being beaten.

New special deputies were being sworn in by the dozen today from the ranks of picking crew guards, all of whom will be armed with shotguns, clubs, and pistols.

All Crews Working

Full crews were reported working this morning, however, according to Stuart Strathman, growers' representative. Strathman said a few workers had been frightened away by yesterday's violence, but that with Americans and workers who remained, full crews were working on every ranch.

Lucas Lucio, Mexican consul's representative here, was at a loss to explain the violence. He said a meeting had been called for 3:30 p.m. today at Gonzales hall in San Ana, by Mexican merchants who hope the strike can be ended.

He said none of the strikers were starving, and that some Mexican merchants were still selling food on credit to the unemployed. Some strikers, however, were having a hard time meeting rent payments, he said.

A Picture Story of Drought

These pictures, taken in North Dakota, near Bismarck, tell in graphic style the losing fight farmers are waging against the ravages of drought. Top is a farm home, deserted by one family in the face of waterless heat; below it is a highway in the vicinity covered with drifting dust from once productive fields. Next to bottom, a courageous farmer seeks to salvage at least forage from a withered, scorched corn field. Below, hungry horses were snatched as they halted momentarily in a futile search for forage in scorched pasture lands. (Associated Press photo.)

aries $12,000 couldn't we have lowered it some more?" Four councilmen agreed.

"I'd like to ask what we're getting but a little more than two acres," declared Smith. Councilman Layton explained, through a barrage of remarks by Smith, who interrupted at each fifth word:

"The forestry board in which we've put responsibility has studied the problem and we're trying to develop the park to meet the demands of the people and provide a park in a natural setting. We're spending more for an entrance than for land," said Layton.

To Keep Spending

"It gives access to the Orange county park development and even the city of Orange park. We get toilet and rest room facilities which we otherwise would have to provide at a cost of from $1500 to $2000."

"What will we have to spend?" asked Smith.

"We'll probably never stop spending money on it," declared Layton. We plan to include it in the WPA program for development."

Picnic Grounds

"I want to save some money for the people," blurted Smith. "You're of course recognized as the savior of the people," retorted Layton.

The question was put to a vote. It was four to one for the purchase. Then Smith asked a roll call vote. It, too, was four to one.

The proposed acquisition will provide double lane entrance facilities from Main street instead of from the present side streets. It also adds picnic grounds, shade trees, and an assembly hall to seat 75 persons, according to Layton.

Clubs to Change Meeting Places

Santa Ana's Toastmaster clubs will change their meeting places, beginning with meetings scheduled for tomorrow and Thursday evenings.

Smedley chapter will meet at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Green Cat cafe. The Doris Kathryn tea room will be the gathering place for members of El Camino chapter at 6:15 p.m. Thursday.

STANFORD CLUB POSTPONES MEET

Weekly luncheon meeting of the Stanford club, normally held at noon Wednesday in the James cafe, will be omitted this week, Douglas Patterson, club president, announced.

ary, 1930. Potatoes also have advanced sharply.

No rain or lowering of abnormally high temperatures was forecast by the weather bureau to ease what it termed "the most trying and damaging period of the drought."

Resuming its climb with the opening of the market, July wheat quickly sold here above $1.10 a bushel, the highest level since August, 1934, and within a fraction of the five-cents maximum gain permissible.

Wheat Hits Top

At Minneapolis wheat bounced the full price at once, September selling as high as $1.24, cents a bushel.

The Kansas City market advanced apace and Liverpool quotations continued higher than expected. Corn, both here and at Kansas City, touched the 4 cents limit permissible in that market on the opening gong, reaching 80¢.

The boiling temperatures took more than a score of lives in the Northwest yesterday due to heat prostration or drowning as thousands sought to escape the sun's effects in lakes or streams.

Many Drownings

Iowa reported nine drownings and three heat deaths; Minnesota eight drownings and one heat death; Wisconsin one drowning and one heat death, and South Dakota one drowning. Nebraska, which had three heat deaths and 32 drownings since May 1, reported probably 25 of those drowned were seeking respite from torrid temperatures.

These temperatures—some of them all-time highs—were registered yesterday:

Fort Yates, N. D., 119; Jamestown and Napoleon, N. D., 118; McClusky, N. D., 117; Valley City, N. D., 116; Bismarck, N. D., 114; Devils Lake, N. D., 112; Bloomington, Ill., 111; Red Wing, Minn., 110; Webster, S. D., 109; Joliet, Ill., 106; O'Neill, Neb., and Pipestone, Minn., 105; Grand Forks, N. D., St. Paul, Minn., and Springfield, Ill., 104.

Ducks Collapse

Ducks collapsed from the heat in North Dakota. Eggs were scrambled on the sidewalk at Matteson. Several hundred men fought forest fires in South Dakota's Black Hills. Pavements buckled in Illinois.

An official Canadian statement told of a total loss of crops in a section of southern Saskatchewan.

President Roosevelt turned to another conference with Resettlement Administrator Rexford Tugwell and Assistant Works Progress Administrator Aubrey Williams after he discussed drought developments and assistance proposals with them yesterday.

Families Moving Out

Reports that the drought had seriously lowered the underground water table, important source of moisture, prompted the geological survey at Washington to launch a study of conditions in the Northwest.

Resettlement officials in North Dakota prepared to remove 200 distressed farm families to arable land.

A state-wide conference on the emergency was called for Wednesday at Havre, Mont.

PROCTOR TRIED ON CHECK CHARGE

Accused of issuing a forged check, Jean Proctor was tried this afternoon before a jury in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court.

Proctor is defended by Attorney Thomas Kuchel, with H. A. McCabe, deputy district attorney, prosecuting.

HIGH SCHOOL OFFICERS FOR STRIKE AREA REINFORCED

With completion of three buildings in the five-unit plan for a reconstructed Santa Ana High school expected before school opens in September, work was progressing rapidly today on furnishing of the new auditorium and upon the building to house commerce and mathematics classes.

Finished except for installation of stage sets and 1500 seats, the auditorium shares the building occupied by the new administration offices, already in use, and classrooms for English and foreign language courses.

Nine rooms are to be housed in the commerce building, a one-story structure which is to be ready by September. Next on the program will be unit B, a two-story classroom building adjoining the administration unit.

Pine street is to be removed, uniting now separate parts of the campus, to permit extension of unit B and its companion building into the street area.

At the same time, construction will be started on the industrial arts unit, which will house six classrooms and mechanical, auto, machine, forge and welding, wood-working and printshops. This building will occupy part of the site of the demolished administration building, and will extend into Pine street.

Present work schedules call for completion of all five units by Jan. 1, 1937. Unit D, a one-story classroom building, has been in use for the past year.

FIND BOY LOST ON MOUNTAIN

SAFFORD, Ariz. (P)—A searching party today found 5-year-old Gordon Jensen alive and unharmed in the lion-infested regions of Mount Graham, four or five miles from the picnic site from which he wandered away shortly after noon Sunday.

The child apparently had suffered little from the two days and nights of wandering through heavy underbrush of the rugged mountain slopes, barefooted and lightly clad. He was exhausted, bruised and scratched, and his light clothing was virtually stripped from his body.

The region where the boy was found is about 30 miles from Safford, atop the loftiest peak in southeastern Arizona.

FLIERS DESERT WITH PLANES

HONGKONG. (P)—Twenty officers of the southwestern Chinese air force deserted today, taking with them 12 bombing and fighting planes. The ships were flown from Siuchow in Kwangtung province to Changsha in Hunan.

Other deserters from the air force were reported to have gone to Shanghai by steamer from Canton. A 13th plane was reported to have been found near Swatow, coastal city of Kwangtung.

Holly Sugar Firm Cuts Stock Total

Notice that the Holly Sugar company, with a large plant here, has reduced its capitalization from $5,800,000 to $5,497,200, and has reduced the number of preferred shares from 31,800 to 29,672, was filed with County Clerk J. M. Backs today by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan.

The certified notice was signed by Wiley Blair, jr., president, and W. M. Trant, secretary, of the corporation.

Will Continue Rodent Campaign

WPA workers will continue poisoning squirrels in rural areas under an extension WPA project approved by the board of supervisors today.

D. W. Tubbs, county agricultural commissioner, presented the project to cost $8606, with the county's share represented by use of trucks and management by Tubbs' department. It extends a similar project which has been in operation for several months.

July Rain Hits For Second Time

The weather man pulled another trick out of his bag today. He gave Santa Ana its second July rain in two years. A heavy shower fell in parts of the city, while in others the large drops fell in only scattering amounts. There was not enough to measure.

The storm was accompanied by thunder and lightning.

Discuss License For Handbills

City councilmen are considering an ordinance to ban handbills, shopping guides and other free distribution advertising matter by imposing a high fee for distribution permits. The Journal learned today.

The proposal is based on an ordinance in several Ohio towns. As used in Ohio, the ordinance sets a fee of $2 for the first page and $25 for each added page.

FIRE DAMAGES GARAGE

When burning leaves blew on the roof of a garage at 925 French street yesterday afternoon, city firemen were called to put out the blaze. Damage was slight, they said. The property is owned by Mrs. G. O. Linger.

County's 4-H Club Members Back From Annual Camp

One of the most successful summer camp periods in the history of Orange county 4-H clubs for boys and girls was reported today by officials, following return of the parties from Camp Rokili in the San Bernardino mountains over the week-end.

Camp activities for 60 members and leaders included fishing, swimming, hiking, and various athletic events. Also featured during the stay was a field trip conducted by Dr. Carl Wolf, of the Santa Ana Botanic gardens, and an educational talk by a forest ranger.

Adults and club leaders attending were: Rosse E. Crane, Miss Frances L. Liles, Mrs. A. F. Schroeder, Mrs. G. D. Grisett, and Mrs. A. C. Lintuff, R. D. Flaherty, Mrs. Anna Lintuff, and Mrs. H. G. Holston.

Boys and girls attending included: Nora, Yvonne and Aileen Lintuff, Werner Franz, David Fairbairn, Jean and Mary Fairbairn, and Bobby Riehl of Olive; Velma Eubanks, Patty Ramsey, Juanita Omdaro, Charlotte Marvin, Placentia; Betty Lou Benson and Ruth Davis of Magnolia; Henrietta, Margaret, Kathryn, Nanette, Jack and Richard Grisett, Dorothy Leonard and Tenna Mae Ashcraft of Tustin;

Glennadean Lintuff, Lorraine and Harold Holston, Helen, Margaret and Harry Hoskins, Jeanette Hastings, Charles Peddicord, John and Herbert Hastings, of Katella; Patricia Flaherty, Robert Wahlberg, Donald Ralls, David Flaherty, of Santa Ana;

Renette Hanson, Barbara Freese, Dolores Birchler, Lucille Kelley, and Joe Leib, Anaheim; Harvey Hartman, Harold Humbert and William Stocks, of Buena Park; Alfred Bochner and Robert Beam, of West Orange; Jack and Glen Berry, Clayton Rowley, Marvin Schneider and George Balmer, of La Habra, and Robert Eastman, San Diego.

George W. Corey, 70, Orange county resident for the past seven years, died early last evening at the family home in Buena Park. He served as a pastor for 31 years in the Erie conference of the Methodist church, in which he held retired relationship at the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maria F. Corey, a daughter, Mrs. J. W. Sanbury, Buena Park; a son, Arthur Corey, of Santa Ana; two sisters, Mrs. Stella Cooley, Los Angeles; Mrs. Mary McGee, Michigan; and six grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Buena Park Congregational church at 2 p.m. tomorrow, under the direction of the Hilgenfeld Funeral home. The Rev. George B. Cliff, pastor of the First Methodist church of Glendora, will officiate. Entombment will be made at Melrose Abbey mausoleum.

No Hope Held for Surviving Twin

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (P)—A Michigan City doctor who claims to have attended at the birth of 6000 babies held out little hope today for the recovery of a surviving twin girl whose sister died 15 minutes after they were born yesterday with a bone fusion at the base of the brain.

Dr. J. B. Rogers, Michigan City obstetrician, said he still was undecided whether to operate in an effort to separate the twins born yesterday to Mrs. Wesley Glick, factory worker's wife.

A similar set of twins was born last week to Mrs. Diego Florenzo at a Boston suburb, but both died.

County supervisors today were looking forward to a fresh skirmish of bitterness and oratory when the Laguna "Battle of the Tombstones" reopens with a public hearing before the board of supervisors Aug. 4.

Fred Leech, representing a company headed by George H. Sanders and seeking permission to build a mausoleum near the beach city, asked the board today whether he should present petitions in favor of the plan. He was assured he should.

June 24 a planning commission hearing on the proposal turned into a free-for-all when business men and others presented oral and written protests on grounds they did not want funeral processions passing through the streets.

Leech told the board today he believes 90 per cent of Luganans are in favor of his plan, but that the 10 per cent against it made the most noise.

Girl to Address Townsend Youth

Frances Hensen, 15-year-old girl who is becoming known as "The Townsend Wonder Speaker," will give the principal address at the Townsend Youth mass meeting to be held at noon tomorrow in Townsend hall, 599 West Fourth street. Miss Hensen has just returned from a speaking tour of the Mid-West.

Chief purpose of the meeting, directed by Charles Heiser, director of the new Townsend youth department, will be to form plans for a Townsend Youth movement in Santa Ana and vicinity.

"No Townsendite can afford to be absent from this meeting. It is going to be youth that will put the Townsend Plan into law. William Haupt, youngest member of the Los Angeles speakers' bureau and pre-law student at Occidental college, will also address the group. Let's make this mass meeting the biggest meeting in Santa Ana's Townsend history."

H. F. Kenny, assistant organizer, urged today.

Herman Kloth of Orange Dies

Injuries sustained May 26 when he apparently went to sleep while smoking in bed proved fatal today to Herman Kloth, 55, Orange. He died at Orange county hospital at 6 a. m.

Coroner Earl Abbey had not yet decided on an inquest, but said a post-mortem examination would be made to determine whether burns were the cause of death.

Denies Oil Claim Against Woman

Finding that claims filed by A. D. Mitchell and D. H. Graham against Lucy B. Freeman for oil well supplies had been paid through an action in the Los Angeles county superior court, Superior Judge James L. Allen today gave judgment in favor of Mrs. Freeman in a $9500 action.

Supplies were used on a Huntington Beach oil lot.

UNEMPLOYED REPLY TO PALMER

Inviting critics of the Public Works and Unemployed Union of Orange county to attend the group's regular Friday evening meetings, A. R. Boolean, Anaheim member of the organization, replied today to E. W. Palmer's recent communication, regarding the citrus strike and its leadership.

Boolean sent the Journal the following letter:

Communist Charge

"Reading in your paper of July 2 an article by E. W. Palmer, Placentia, and I being organizer of the Public Works and Unemployed Union of this county, I feel that the public is entitled to an answer to the charges that the Public Work and Unemployed Union is a Communist-controlled organization."

"I am sure that Alex Noral being a candidate on the Communist ticket makes the P.W. and U.U. Communist-controlled. He might as well continue and charge the Farm Bureau or the Mutual Orange Distributors are controlled by whatever party the president of these organizations happens to be affiliated with."

"The P.W. and U.U. pays no attention to the political affiliations of its members or its officers, holding that their political belief is their own individual affair."

Extends Invitation

"Palmer, no doubt, after reading the Western Worker, 'western organ of the Communist party,' holds himself capable of knowing all about the P.W. and U.U. members."

"I invite him to be present at our regular meeting, any Friday night, at 1025 East Fourth street, Santa Ana, and judge more closely the members of the union."

"I hope you will grant me the same courtesy in printing this article that you granted Mr. Palmer."

CALL 2 DEATHS ACCIDENTAL

Two week-end traffic deaths were classed as accidental today, as a coroner's jury exonerated a train crew of blame for the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lenhart, San Bernardino.

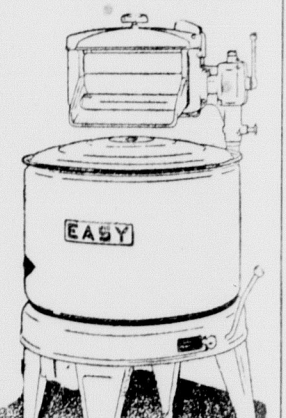

The Lenharts were fatally injured Saturday morning when their car was struck by a passenger train on East Orangehorpe avenue near Fullerton. They died later in Orange county hospital.

Inquests in two other deaths, those of Hilario Rodriguez and Mrs. Alma Lindsey, have not yet been set.

LANEON ASKS SECURITY PROGRAM

Urges Legislature to Vote Such a System For Kansas

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Stressing differences between the New Deal's social security program and the Republican platform, Gov. Alf M. Landon recommended today that Kansas prepare to join any security system as "may ultimately become the settled law upon this question."

His views were given a joint senate-house meeting of the special session of the state legislature which assembled at his call to consider constitutional changes designed to secure greater participation in major phases of the federal social security.

He urged submission by the legislature, and approval by the Kansas electorate in November, of a constitutional "amendment or amendments" which "will enable the legislature to pass laws providing for the necessary social security." Such a constitutional change, the governor said, should be "merely a grant of power," leaving methods of administration "to the wisdom and sound judgment of the legislature."

Then the Republican presidential nominee made his single reference to the national political contest. "In considering proposed amendments," Landon told the legislature, "I desire to call attention to the fact that the platform of the Republican party adopted at its national convention provides for a plan of social security different from the social security act adopted by congress."

Declines Discussion
"I do not deem this a fitting time to enter into a discussion of the relative merits of the present act and the proposal set out in the Republican platform."

The Republican platform proposed a pay-as-you-go old-age security system; that citizens over 65 should receive "the supplementary payment necessary to provide a minimum income" sufficient to protect from want; federal contributions to states with the necessary revenues raised through a direct tax widely distributed. It further proposes to encourage and practical methods for meeting the problems of unemployment insurance.

Condition of Cadman Critical

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—Dr. L. G. Barton, Jr., attending physician, said today that the chances are against the recovery of the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, noted Brooklyn radio preacher, after an emergency operation for a ruptured appendix.

Dr. Barton said the 71-year-old clergyman "held his own fairly well through the night, but his condition is very critical."

Dr. Cadman is at the Champlain Valley hospital, where he went after being stricken while delivering a peace address at the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday night. Despite his pain, he insisted on completing his address.

ELSIE JANIS WILL DEVOTE LIFE TO UNFORTUNATES

TARRYTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—Elsie Janis, on whom fortune smiled through a long stage career, looked today to a new role as she resolved to dispose of her possessions and devote her life to aid the less fortunate.

"This is a divine inspiration from God," said the 47-year-old actress. "I am doing it because I want to do something swell, something that would give me a reason for living."

"I'm giving up everything I have except the talent, personality, pep, or whatever it was that put me in the money as 'Little Elsie' and kept me there for 30 years."

To Entertain Vets
Miss Janis, who won fame early as an impersonator, disclosed she would spend much of her future in government hospitals entertaining disabled World War veterans, many of whom knew her overseas in 1918 as the "Sweetheart of the A.E.F."

She often went within sound of the guns to play for the men just out of the trenches. Her plans were made known in a letter to the editor of the Tarrytown News.

Miss Janis wrote that she herself would auction her manor house and her "so-called important souvenirs and valuable nicknacks."

Provisions to Charity
The proceeds of the auction, she said, would be given to local charities, but the house will be sold with the provision it will be devoted to some public purpose such as a museum or school. It is an historic structure, the first part having been built in 1863.

Miss Janis began her stage career, carefully planned by her mother at the age of five, and made her New York debut as "Little Elsie" when she was 11.

It was in Hollywood that she met Gilbert Wilson, 16 years her junior, and married him. Wilson now is a bond salesman.

Sword Swallower's Act Too Realistic; It Backfires

ANDERSON, Ind. (AP)—A circus sword swallower who made his act too realistic was reported today to be recovering from an operation for the removal of 12 inches of glass tubing from his stomach.

William G. Knoll, 27, of Reading, Pa., billed as "Prince Neon," went through his regular act here last night and as a climax swallowed a two-foot electric tube—but 12 inches of it broke off in his stomach.

Knoll was rushed to the St. John's hospital where an operation was performed to remove the tubing.

The act included the turning on of the electricity in the tube, but Knoll didn't get to that part.

COURT BRIEFS
Gale H. Vinson of Bakersfield today petitioned the superior court here to admit to probate the will of his aunt, E. Alice Powell, who died in Riverside July 1, leaving him her home at 1125 South Ross street.

Leaving at his property, valued at less than $10,000, to his widow, Mrs. Rebecca Caroline Dilley of Los Angeles, the will of Jared G. Dilley, who died here in 1934, was filed for probate in superior court yesterday.

SLAIN WOMAN'S PLAN DRIVE ON BODY FOUND

BURLINGAME, Kan. (AP)—The persistent belief of Burlingame citizens that the December disappearance of Mrs. Frank Villemonte, 65-year-old "goat woman," could be solved in her own locked house was rewarded today by discovery of her basement grave.

One of her tenants, Alex Ure, 45-year-old rent collector, was charged with slaying the woman, who lived with his family and employed him. County Attorney Heizer quoted Ure as saying he shot her "because she had run out of money and asked me to kill her."

Responding to repeated requests of friends and neighbors of the woman, officers broke into the farm home and discovered Mrs. Villemonte's body in a shallow grave, buried with two of her pet dogs.

Heizer said Ure explained that he shot the woman believing she had some money concealed in her house, but denied taking any.

Wentz on Nightball

Everyone agrees the scramble for National nightball honors, second half, will be a lulu.

Today President Walter B. Wentz comes forth with a contribution, sic:

"I would like to make a statement concerning the second half of the 1936 National Nightball series.

"According to my observations during the first half of the season, I could readily see a real determination among all the clubs to win the second half, for it is only natural for any club to try and get back at the fellow who constantly wins over him. And the way managers are strengthening their outfields it looks to me like a toss up for the second.

"Anaheim has had several players out of their lineup during the first half of the season, and if it is possible for them to retain all their players during the remaining playing season they should be able to win a lot of ball games. If Anaheim gets the breaks, do not be surprised to see her win the second half.

"Huntington Beach, while victorious during the first half of the season, is out to prove conclusively that they can go on winning ball games just the same. Huntington Beach is one ball club that keeps fighting all the time, and although Neva will not be in there all the time, Rodgers says the club that wins the second half will still have to defeat his outfit.

"Olive, under the skillful management of Ben Gelker, (The Lone Wolf), is bound to go places. With the addition of Third Baseman Ward Sheldon, and if Pitcher Dugan can be 90 per cent right, in the opinion of many fans the winner will have to beat this club for the second half.

"The Olive team will be a traveling ball club the second half, and Ben Gelker says his club will travel fast enough to win the pennant.

"Orange has that old determination to get together a winning ball club, and from the showing made during the first half gives evidence that Orange will have that winning combination before she is through. She has a group of talented individual players, and has proven to be a dangerous club, especially in the ninth inning.

"Westminster, always a dangerous ball club, is a club that will win plenty of ball games, and when Fuzz Errington is right Westminster generally is the same way. Francis Lemon has been quite a boost to that club, and there is no telling what will happen in the second half if they start clicking.

"Santa Ana's club is out to win the second half, so she will be in a position to play Huntington Beach for the pennant honors.

"Last year's defeat by Huntington Beach has left no sweet memories with her, and the one desire for Santa Ana is to get in the playoff. And if Santa Ana puts up the brand of ball if which the club is capable, she is liable to be in there at the finish.

"It looks like the second half is going to be a horse race.

"Every one of the managers contends that he is going to win. The twenty-fifth of August will tell that story, but regardless of the outcome I believe we can all look forward to a very close race."

Vykoff to Run Last Race In America Saturday

By SCOTTY RESTON Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, (AP)—The man who holds the recognized world record for the 100-yard dash, fair-haired Frank Vykoff of Carpinteria, Calif., says he will run his last amateur race in America here Saturday.

Vykoff, a member of the 1928 U. S. Olympic team, now manual training teacher at Carpinteria High school, will become the school's head coach next autumn and thus end his amateur career. He is here preparing for the final Olympic trials at the Randall's Island stadium.

Although he is only 27, Vykoff is virtually forgotten in the parade of younger and faster stars. Modest and smiling, he does not seem to mind.

"They pay off on what you can do right now; not what you could do. And the best I've done for the 100 meters in a long time is 10.5," he said.

The experts figure he will have to do better than that to get into the finals of Saturday's tryouts.

Capistrano Challenges County League Heads; Favoritism Charged

Brea and Anaheim's battle to end in the runner-up position to Irvine for first-half honors in the Orange County Nightball league ended in a dead heat last night, as Pete Lehr's Red Lions put the Indians sign on their favored rivals to the tune of 15 to 3.

But the real dynamite as the first half closed was the challenge flung by Manager Chet Congdon of the San Juan Capistrano nine to the county league officials, "to pay more attention to the last four teams, or you'll find yourself at the head of a two-team league."

Charges Favoritism

Chet was moaning over a useless trip to Huntington Beach last night. The Capistranos journeyed to the beach city to take on the Oilers' B team, only to find the park still suffering from effects of the July Fourth rodeo, and no team on hand to play them.

"We couldn't even ask a forfeit," Congdon said today. "There was no one there to ask it from."

He charged that officials were favoring the top teams in the league to the detriment of the tail-enders, and that others besides the last nine were ready to quit the circuit unless given some support from the front office. He will make a formal demand for a forfeited game from Huntington Beach today.

Anaheim Ties Brea

In the other scheduled battle, Irvine's first-place winners fell easy prey to Harry Easton's Valentines from Placentia. The Placentia sluggers slugged the champs for 12 runs on 11 hits.

The Irvine nine, while committing five costly errors in dropping the battle. It made no difference in standings of the two teams.

Placentia finished in fourth spot. Anaheim pulled into a tie with Brea in the final first-half standings by its maltreatment of the up-country boys.

They collected 18 bingles for July 16, affording the six clubs a 10-day layoff.

Ramage Squares Off Against Kingfish Tonight

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Lee Ramage, once a promising heavyweight prospect from San Diego, moves along another step in a comeback campaign tonight in a return bout with King Levinsky, hurly-burly Chicagoan, at the Olympic auditorium.

Ramage held the Kingfish to a draw several months ago in his first fight since Joe Louis knocked him out a year before. Since the Levinsky engagement, training under the management of "Pop" Foster, Ramage has outpointed two comparative unknowns, Jack Darcy and Don Conn.

Well-Balanced American Squads Monopolize Olympic Team Honors

ANOTHER IN A SERIES OF DAILY STORIES

By ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK, (AP)—America's ability to develop specialists, in every branch of track and field competition is the main reason why this country generally has monopolized Olympic team-scoring honors.

Rival nations, by choice or necessity, narrow the range of their athletic guns. The result is that the U. S. A. bumps into one collection of specially developed athletes after another. Britain, disregarding the field events almost entirely, concentrates on the short or middle distance foot-races. Finland's distance running class is proverbial. Japan's agility in the selection of specially developed athletes after another. Britain, disregarding the field events almost entirely, concentrates on the short or middle distance foot-races. Finland's distance running class is proverbial. Japan's agility in the selection of specially developed athletes after another.

Most cosmopolitan of all Olympic events is the classic marathon. Seven nations have shared the laurel wreath. France, the United States and Finland have had the only repeaters in the long distance race. Paavo Nurmi had hopes of crowning his glorious career with a triumph in the 1932 Olympic marathon, but Nurmi was barred from competition on the eve of the games. Now it appears Japan is concentrating on a bid for the winner's prize at Berlin, but for the first time, the defending champion probably will set forth on the long jaunt as favorite.

Zabala May Repeat

Juan Carlos Zabala, running for the Argentine, capitalized the results of the most intensive kind of preparation four years ago at Los Angeles. Zabala came to the United States months ahead of time, accompanied by a trainer, to become thoroughly acclimated. He has repeated the process this year by going to Germany well in advance of all other distance runners. This semi-professional procedure has caused some eyebrow lifting in international amateur circles, but strong pressure likely will be brought to bear to prevent a recurrence of the Nurmi debacle.

America has already named its marathon trio, Ellison Brown, Bill McMahon and Johnny Kelley. They will be newcomers to the Olympic grind, but they shape up as the best we can send in quest of the laurel wreath.

Irish hammer-throwers have dominated the Olympics with the exception of 1924, when big Fred Toottell, then a Boston college undergraduate, interrupted the dynasty founded by John Flanagan and carried on by Matt McGrath, Paddy Ryan and Pat O'Callaghan, winner of the last two Olympic titles. Toottell, now the track coach at Rhode Island state, has now founded a dynasty of his own. His pupils, among them Henry Dreyer, Irving Polwartshny and Bill Rowe, are likely to dominate American tryouts as well as the Olympics. Dreyer has surpassed the Olympic record of 179 feet 7 1/4 inches set by McGrath in 1921.

Finland in Decathlon

Unless the U. S. A. turns up another "Jarring Jim" Bausch in the decathlon, all-around honors likely will be out of this country's reach. Finland's favorites, upset by Bausch at Los Angeles, will make another strong bid. Germany has developed a world record performer since 1932 in Hans Sievert, but poor condition may keep him out of competition.

Robert Clark of the Olympic club, San Francisco, is American champion, but the best-looking prospect developed this year is Glen Morris of Denver. Clyde Coffman, a member of the 1932 team, is making a comeback. Chicago's all-American halfback, John Jacob Berwanger, has great potentialities in all-around competition, but lacks experience.

The hopes for a continuation of American supremacy in the gentle art of heaving the 16-pound shot rest upon a comeback by Jack Torrance, 300-pound product of Louisiana State university. Jack's world record toss of 57 feet 1 inch put him in a class by himself two years ago. He has not come close to that mark since, but he is still the No. 1 man, providing he gets into condition. John Lyman, the Stanford shotputter who rivalled Torrance for a time and has exceeded 54 feet, is not available. Two other Stanford men, Singer Dunn and Bob Reynolds, can do around 51 feet, as can "Dimmy" Zaitz of Boston college, but this won't be enough to win at Berlin, even if it suffices to make the American team.

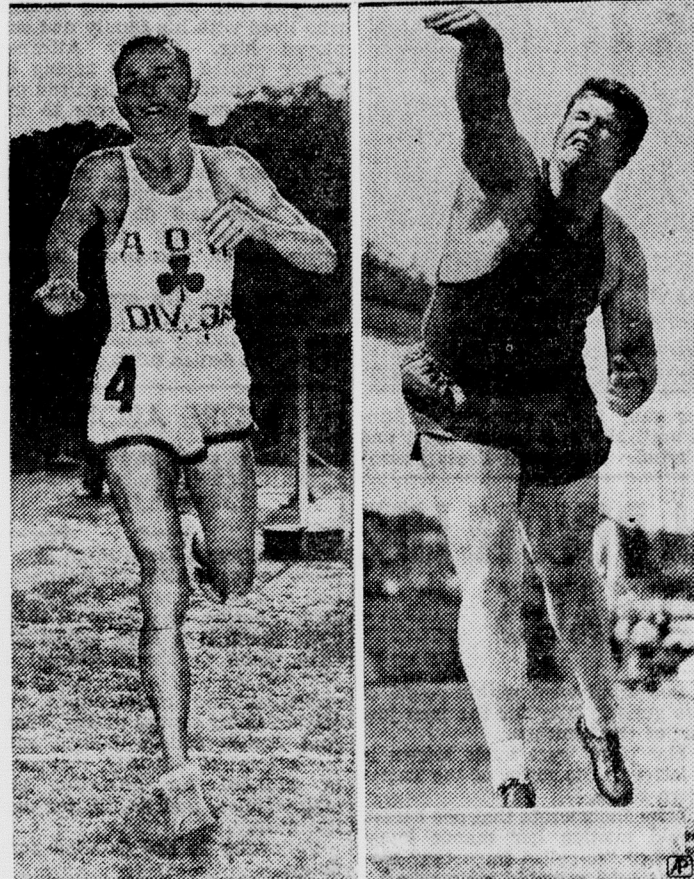

Diving Champion Defaults Title

NEW YORK, (AP)—Minus the defending champion, Mrs. Dorothy Poynton Hill of Los Angeles, a half dozen or more of America's leading women divers are scheduled to compete for the National A. A. U. senior high platform diving championship at the new Astoria pool tomorrow night.

Mrs. Hill plans to let her national title go by default in order to concentrate on her preparations for the Olympic trials in the same pool Saturday and Sunday.

Leading rivals for the Olympic position who are expected to compete for the national title include Ruth Hoerger, Miami Beach, Fla., runner up last year; Cornelia Gillen and Mrs. Helen Howard of New York, and Ruth Nurmi and Ruth Jump of Los Angeles.

SPECTER OF EMPTY PURSE HAUNTS OLYMPIC HEADS

SAINTS FALL TO GROCERY

NEW YORK, (AP)—The specter of curtailed participation in the 1936 Olympic Games rose again today to plague the American Olympic committee only nine days before the teams were due to sail and the big task of selecting the competitors still was unfinished.

The final tryouts in three of the principal activities, men's track and field and men's and women's swimming, are scheduled for this week.

Each sport is expected to pay its own way, but these three have the biggest squads and thus need the most money.

Reports of committee heads at a general meeting yesterday showed that only three out of 21 had surpassed their quotas—boxing, modern pentathlon and yachting—and while most of the others were hopeful of raising their totals within the next ten days the deficit is now nearly $150,000.

As a result the A. O. C. laid plans for a nationwide appeal for funds, ending possibly in a drive on the pier before the S. S. Manhattan sail July 15, carrying the Olympic squads.

"We have reached a serious crisis," said Avery Brundage, A. O. C. chairman. "We are short approximately $150,000. We have, I would guess, about $25,000 coming in from various sources, whereas we are in debt another $25,000 for running expenses. Unless the money comes in during the next nine days we cannot sail."

Already the women's track and field team has been tentatively cut from 17 to four. The committee reported a deficit of approximately $9,000 with no money coming in. Only $300 was raised from the final tryouts at Providence Saturday.

The men's track and field finals at Randsell's Island, New York, Saturday and Sunday, are slated to draw a self-out crowd and make up the deficit of about $25,000 in that branch. The women's swimming finals at the new Astoria, L. I., natatorium, are expected to pay off a $9000 deficit.

Less is looked for from the men's swimming finals at Warwick, R. I., but the clubs which have representatives are expected to furnish the $5000 needed for swimming and water polo.

The rowing committee also has shifted the burden to the clubs and colleges, asking them to supply the deficit of about $32,000 in that branch. The 32 oarsmen and coaches.

The fencing squad probably will be cut from 22 to 14, the men's gymnastic squad may drop three of its members and the pistol shooting team plans to trim off one or two men. Field hockey has a $4000 deficit and no income.

PICO'S POPS AT UMPIRE COSTLY

Drops Battle to Lutze By Slugging Ref.; Japanese Wins

By DICK JONES

Bronzed Nick Lutze with the help of Colonel Ted Hopkins, referee, and the feet of Juan Olguival Pico, emerged victorious from the main mat event last night at Promoter Sam Sampson's.

The Pico pedal extremities helped the Colonel forcibly from the scene, for after five minutes and 59 seconds of the final canto had elapsed, and in retaliation the match was given to Lutze.

The first fall went to the Venice moan-and-groaner when he slapped a combination toe-hold and leg-lock on the blue-bearded Basque and forced him to say "Uncle." It took Lutze just 7:19 to take the first one.

Lutze Ribs Ache

What appeared from the first joust to be a nice, gentlemanly exhibition of wrestling, in the second set to become a succession of deadly elbow-smashes to Lutze's short ribs, the grand finale coming with Don Juan slinging the ex-Venetian leguano into the ropes, but not before Lutze had gotten in some lusty smashes to Senior Pico's chin.

The Basque, with all molaris displayed, arose victorious from his party in 10 minutes and 45 seconds.

Both bone-benders began the third act with Picoan elbow-smashes and Lutzean jaw-crushers, getting the worst of it from Senior Don Juan's booming belts to the ribs. Pico floored Lutze with a mighty smash and began working on the blond giant's head, but Lutze got partly outside the ropes. When poor, unsuspecting Colonel Hopkins remonstrated with the Don for continuing his chiropractic outside the ropes, the blue-bearded manie crashed both feet into Mr. Referee's back and hoisted him into three or four ring-side laps.

Colonel Collapses

The Colonel clambered back into the ring and continued his appeals, but Don Juan let him have it again in the ribs, and continued his devilish designs on Mr. Lutze. Referee again crowded out of several laps again and managed to get back and raise Lutze's hand in victory before collapsing. When the fans left, the Colonel was being carried from the ring.

The Old Shikawa-Count Casmir but ended in a new act when the ruthless Russian doubled up the Japanese with a series of kicks to the groin. Casmir left the ring with the air full of pieces of seats torn off by the enraged fans, after the Count had left his opponent writhing on the floor. The foul gave the match to Shikawa in 12:18.

Coleman-McGill Draw

Mayes McLain's new disabbling wrinkle of tying Irish Jack McArthur's shoelaces together failed to win for him, although the Irishman had some unhappy minutes when he arose hobbled from a crabbish and was at McLain's mercy. The Irishman won the bout after blinding McLain with eye-goggles in 14 minutes and 35 seconds, and proceeded to dance a jig around the ring.

Bob Coleman, the scientific lad, and Pat McGill, Balboa Island Irishman, went through 30 torturous minutes to a draw.

HOME SLUGGERS TO COMPETE

Orange county's leading swatters get a chance to show their wares against home-town competition Thursday night at the Highway 101 arena, when Promoter Sam Sampson has scheduled a "home talent" program.

Such leading sluggers as Little Chief Leo Lopez, conqueror of ex-amateur Lupo Cordova; Don Benzer, the Anaheim windmill; Cloutier, Joe Orona, Clown Barry, Jimmy Merced, Jimmy Joya, Johnny Chavez and Joey Reed will swing into action, all meeting picked local lads.

Sixteen of the county warriors will compete in a series of eight bouts over the four-round route.

For the past few weeks Promoter Sampson has been bringing in high class outside competition to meet the cream of the local crop, and local boxing fans claim that what they really want to see is local boys against local products.

If the "home talent" show fails to click there is a possibility of the Highway 101 promoter turning to professional boxers as a regular diet, with one amateur show sandwiched in between bi-monthly or monthly, he said last night.

Joe Marty Tops Coast Batting

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Joe Marty, Seals outfielder, kept his batting leadership of the Pacific Coast baseball league, averages compiled today showed, during a week which saw but one shift among the five pace-trotting sluggers.

Ten points behind Marty in second place was Norman Kies of Oakland, with a percentage of .360. Kies did not see any action last week.

30 Pastors Putt But Cuss Not In Golf Tourney

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Some 30 Memphis ministers are settling their golf supremacy this week—without a single "big, big D" in the tournament.

A fervent "umphph" followed the drubbing of some approach shot.

"You see," one contestant explained, "we must take care with the young caddies about." "Is 'umphph' all that a minister says when he dubs a shot?" another was asked.

"Well," he replied, "we can call any one of 27 numbers, or bark out any letters of the Greek alphabet."

The association set up a number of rules, among them, that "players may not kick the ball in the cup when observed," and "balls shot from any tee and landing outside the city limits shall be considered completely out of bounds."

The rejuvenated Olive Grenadiers served notice on the league last night at Westminster that they will be hard to beat in the second half of the National Nightball pennant scramble.

With Pitchers Jack Dugan of the Hillside Toolers and Fuzzy Errington of the Aviators in exceptional form, Ben Gelker's nine came through with a sparkling 2-1 victory over Westminster to open the race for honors auspiciously in the second half.

Dugan yielded six hits in the fray, with Second Baseman Jim McNabb and Right Fielder Joe Hosack each collecting two of the bingles. Errington gave up eight hits, and lost his ball game in the second and third innings. Olive scored once in each of these frames, one count being unearned when Roy Hahne scampered home on an infield error in the second canto.

Olive scored again in the third, when Seacord singled, went to second on Bath's sacrifice, to third on Wallin's infield out, and home on Folz's long fly to center.

Westminster counted its run in the seventh inning, when McNabb tripled and scored on Joe Hosack's triple and scored on Joe Hosack's triple and scored on Joe Hosack's triple.

With the single exception of the seventh inning, Dugan was in control of the game, with his teammates clinging tenaciously to their slim lead.

Hurlers Doing Right Well In Major League Race

By EARL HILLIGAN (Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO.—The pitching may look "soft" to the players who are getting their base hits regularly, but the record book shows today it's a bad headache to a big percentage of the top-ranking batsmen of last season.

Lou Gehrig, the New York Yankee first sacker, has contended the hurling isn't up to last year's standard. He's been banging the ball at a 389 clip compared to the 329 mark he had to be content with at the close of 1935. But Floyd (Arky) Vaughan of Pittsburgh and Charles (Buddy) Myer of Washington probably will concede that the moundmen are doing right well.

Vaughan led the National league last season with a mark of .355, while Myer topped the American league hitters with an average of .349. Right now, Vaughan is hitting a modest .285, while Myer, physically handicapped, is going along with a rating of .287, and both have been benched on occasion because of their weakness at the plate.

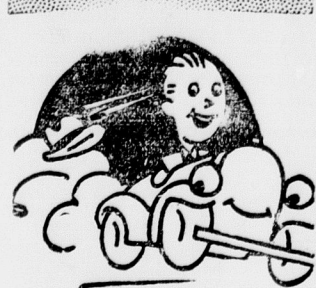

Considering the present batting marks of 1935's first five in each circuit, only one player, Joe Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals, is hitting along in last-season style; Medwick, who finished last year with a plate mark of .353 is hitting

ORANGE has improved while I was away on my vacation. They've progressed rapidly in their paving work around the Plaza. And Stan Wilson has apparently recovered from an attack of travelitis, because he's back in the fold again. I see, with his "Orange Day by Day."

I hesitate to say which is the greater improvement for the community. It's really nice to drive down South Central street without fear of the back molar, but it's also nice to know that Stan's keeping a slightly cynical eye on things for me.

Incidentally, I'd like to inquire—has the municipal plunge been opened? And, if so, did the city councilmen take the first plunge? I've always wanted to see a city councilman in a first plunge, and I've been worrying for the past week for fear they'd open that municipal bathtub while I wasn't looking. I'd still like to see dignified Mayor Bock being shoved into the water by Chief of Police George Franzen.

We read that Clyde Simmons, former editor of the Yorba Linda Star, is preparing to offer agriculturalists of the county a publication devoted to their interests.

Dunno just what it'll be like, but ranchers may rest assured that Clyde will give 'em something of interest to read. He stills just enough humor into his brand of common sense to make even the driest subjects interesting material.

We'll have to see Clyde and see if "Mac" the family Scotty, survived the extensive eastern tour from which the Simmons family is still no doubt recovering.

Just checking up on office scandal. Seems that while the county editor's away, the boy'll play, or something like that, because husky members of the force are said to have up-ended Skinny and, despite his asthmatic protests, gave him a thin coating of shorts and then took his picture, which was afterward prominently displayed on page 1.

Skinny's still scampering around, ducking much after the fashion of an angry mother hen who's been deprived of her flock. Yeah, I said flock, not flock. Our ace columnist should have battled a little harder, in our opinion, in resisting the hecklers. What the gals must think of us now!

While I was battling Troubles Tremendous in the wilds of the high Sierras, a very practical and no doubt overloaded stork deposited three lively Scotty pups in the doghouse the much-petted pet occupies when the head of the editorial family isn't using it.

Several times in the past, I've tried to give away family animals, and there hasn't been any response, so this time there ain't gonna be no free dogs, so there!

Villagers in droves have called to see the hostess and have apparently been disappointed when they discovered the litter is composed of mere dogs. They seem to expect 'em to be streamlined, or equipped with hydraulic brakes, or some such thing. Chief of Police Gus Barnes even dropped in to see how the family was getting along—it's getting to be pretty good when the chief of police comes to see your dog. Especially when she already has a license!

When better litters are made, we'll write 'em—that's not right, but you'll probably get the idea, anyway!

From the reverberations today, we take it that Huntington Beach had a real celebration over The Fourth. Stupendous and colossal were mere by-words as far as the event was concerned, folks who were there report.

Special mention for success of the affair should go to Mr. M. C. (Jackrabbits Giganticus) McCullen, who was general chairman. Also to his right and left hand man, Bill Gallienne, and to C. M. Rood, J. Sherman Denny, W. J. Bristol, W. R. Osborne, Dr. Douglas Hough, Clint Brush and his posse; Bill Jones and Major John Thomas Africa and his socks. Major Africa and his socks were in charge of announcing the program. Both the socks and the announcements were loud, spectators claim.

Also assisting in the affair were James Ranney and Herb Wood, who took care of children's sports and M. Sasaki and A. W. Frost, who herded the Ju Jitsu artists. Ted Tarbox was major-domo at the street dance, and last but by far from least, Claude Frederick officiated at the fireworks display. They did a fine job, but I'll bet they spend the next week in bed recovering from all that hard work!

Speaking of fireworks, we pulled a sneaker on the crowds. Huntington Beach looked crowded. So did Newport-Balboa. So we perched on the bluffs at Costa Mesa and watched the night displays from both places, with Long Beach skyrockets thrown in for good measure.

There was only one drawback. Couldn't buy any hot dogs.

An Australorp hen in Hawaii laid 280 eggs averaging 22 ounces each in the year ending September, 1935.

HUNTINGTON BEACH BUDGET SET AT $289,380 FOR YEAR

INCREASE IS NOTED IN EXPENSES

Revenue to Be $342,919 in 1936-37; Bill for 'Fourth' Protested

HUNTINGTON BEACH—City government in Huntington Beach will be slightly more expensive this year, but special expense will be cut down to a point which brings the budget for the fiscal year to about the level of last year's expenditures, the city council decided last night in approving expenses for the year beginning July 1.

The council budgeted expenditures totaling $289,380 for estimated revenue of $342,919 for the coming year. An estimated surplus of about $53,500 is expected.

To Spend $157,140 The city will spend $157,140 from the general fund, $17,500 from the music and promotion fund and $600 on the public library. Other routine expenditures include bond funds, chamber of commerce activities and special street work.

Two special expenditures planned for the coming year are the $45,000 beach pavilion, for which the federal government will furnish a portion of the funds, and the Frankfort street improvement, which will be financed with state gasoline tax appropriations.

Regular city taxes this year will bring in an estimated $225,000 and city licenses should produce about $50,000, according to reports of City Clerk C. R. Furr.

Bill Protested Fireworks followed the annual Fourth of July celebration here when payment of $1250 for the event was protested by Councilman A. W. Morehouse, who asked that the council be given opportunity to examine bills before approving the expenditure.

M. M. McAllen, general chairman of the celebration, flashed a check for $1250, which he offered to advance Treasurer J. Sherman Denny, protesting that he had personally guaranteed that the bills would be paid. Finally Councilman Channock asked approval of the expenditure, with Councilman A. H. Henrickson supporting him. Morehouse did not vote and Councilman Tom Talbert was absent.

Oil Heir Found Dead

James McDonald II (right), heir to a $5,000,000 oil fortune established by his father, a former Rockefeller partner, was found dead in his car in the garage of his home at Boise, Idaho. A coroner's jury ruled he died accidentally of carbon monoxide poisoning, but his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alicia Breeze McDonald (left), of Oakland, Calif., whose marriage to McDonald's son had caused a family schism, said she had received four long distance calls from McDonald the night before. McDonald had stood by her and her child. (Associated Press Photos)

NEW RESIDENCE PRIVATE BEACH FOR FORESTER STAND TOLD

ORANGE—Monday saw part of the State Forestry department moved into its new quarters on East Chapman avenue and Water street. State Forester Joe Scherman and family are living in the new home prepared for them, while barracks for the fire suppression crew, storage sheds and administration offices are still under construction.

A dwelling for the assistant ranger and family is also near completion. Fifty miles of private telephone lines connect the headquarters with lookout stations. The cost of the unit, which is headquarters for the fire fighting activities of the county, is $50,000, paid by the state. The city of Orange and the county shared the cost of the site.

HUMANE GROUP SEEKS AID

LAGUNA BEACH.—A request that the city of Laguna Beach appropriate $400 toward financing construction of an animal shelter, thus matching a similar amount voted by the county supervisors, will be presented to the city council at tomorrow night's adjourned meeting by the Laguna Beach Humane society. A motion to that effect was adopted at the regular monthly meeting, held yesterday afternoon at the city council chamber.

In the absence of Mrs. Helen Carter Tiffany, president, Leslie F. Kimmel presided at the meeting. In addition to directors, the session was attended by Councilman Randolph Bainbridge and Dr. R. C. Wilkins.

The resignation of Mrs. Gracie Martin as humane officer, in charge of the shelter, was accepted. Miss Llewellyn Lissak, in discussing plans for the new shelter, which will be operated as a sub-station of the county pound, stressed importance of providing sleeping quarters for the animals. She explained that numerous calls will come over the phone for the services of the humane society in picking up stray animals, and that an attendant should be within reach at the shelter.

VOICE IN THE WILDERNESS

(Anaheim Bulletin)

Governor Charles L. Martin, Democrat of Oregon, barely made his voice heard in the wilderness yesterday when he protested against the dole. Said the governor:

"I don't care which political party advocates the dole. It must stop if we are to build up the morale of our state and people."

Why, governor? How could you, a Democrat?

This sounds like the rankest of political heresy, or even like a Republican playing an old worn record. Perhaps it even out-Republican the G. O. P. leaders, who have maintained all along that the destitute must be cared for at public expense.

What Governor Martin wants was outlined recently in a press conference where he committed further heresy when he said: "Personally, to hell with the 'forgotten man.' He should be forgotten if he doesn't get out to work and be with the winners."

In other words, the Oregon official demands that people do something for themselves. He wants a showing of the same sort of determination that conquered the West for the nation.

"He wants an administration of government which will encourage and contribute to a large supply of good old human spine."

Such a program would require a slow process of acute distress is to be avoided. At this very moment there are thousands who are convinced they are doing the very best they can do for themselves.

Governor Martin apparently believes they are not, and that a better method of dealing with them would make them self-supporting and self-respecting.

Governor Martin may be wrong. He is basing his remarks upon observations made when citizenship implied a duty and a responsibility to government and not of government. There is a difference.

His views are colored by visions of men who couldn't and wouldn't be licked—men who toiled ceaselessly to turn stunted valleys into fertile fields. It took hard work. Of course it did. And it offered the workers no radio; it gave him no automobile; it never sent him to a picture show. But it did give him a living from the fruits of his own toil, and to most it gave healthful lives with pleasures that were appreciated.

Perhaps the governor is a trifle old-fashioned, and perhaps his electorate will so decide when next they check their ballots. If so, the governor will find a welcome in the Republican party, where his views appear to be rather deep seated.

MR. McLAUGHLIN'S FOOL STUNT (Yorba Linda Star)

The papers say Charles McLaughlin, communist candidate for congress in this district, has been arrested for trespass and vagrancy while trying to distribute strike literature among orange pickers who were at work in a grove posted with "no trespassing" signs. The Star offers no opinion as to whether with a pickers' strike going on Mr. McLaughlin adopted a wise or foolish course to advance the interests of the communist party, but if the printed facts are correct, he would have needed to think a long time to devise a worse manner of serving the cause of the orange pickers.

Practically the only obstacle there has been from the first to negotiations between the pickers and their employers has been a genuine conviction on the part of the employers that the strike was a result of radical agitation and that to concede anything to the men would be only to encourage radicalism. And now along comes Communist Candidate McLaughlin and does about all he can to provide proof the conviction is well founded. Between Mr. McLaughlin doing what he can to infuriate the employers and Mr. Strathman, "spokesman for the growers," contributing his bit to keep the pickers in a black mood, it may be possible to keep the pickers' strike going all summer. SANTA ANA ENDS FISCAL YEAR WITH $152,157 IN TREASURY

BONDED DEBT $236,518 LOWER

Cash Surplus Is $32,437
Larger Than Balance of Last Year

Santa Ana's city government operated within its income in all departments for the year ending June 30, and wound up the year with a cash surplus $32,437.10 greater than the balance last year, City Auditor Lloyd Banks reported to the city council last night.

He showed the city ended with $152,157.50 left in its operating funds to carry municipal activities until tax payments start arriving next December. Every fund, for the first time in many years, ended "in the black."

Bonded Debt Cut

The fire fund last year was $9,850.85 overdrawn, but ended this year with $2,511.28 left over. This shows, Banks reported, that the rate set up for the fire department is sufficient to carry on its activities.

A further healthy note was in the report that the city's bonded indebtedness was lowered by $236,518 during the year, leaving a net debt of $1,621,249. Banks reported that the 1915 bonds are $11,657 less in default than they were last year, and that a continuance of the special 10-cent levy on the city will retire the issue by 1940 when the last of the bonds comes due.

New Accounting System

Construction and furnishing of the new city hall was the major item of expenditure in the past year, totaling $165,000. Bonds for $70,000 were voted; PWA granted $43,000, and the remainder was paid from operating funds. Other major steps were opening of Flower street from Fifth to Sixth streets, opening of the Bowers Memorial museum, and replacing 22 pieces of out-moded motor equipments.

Auditor Banks reported he has installed a new cost accounting system effective July 1 and will furnish monthly reports on the true cost of all outside functions of the city government, particularly the maintenance of water and street departments.

Last year's total revenue was $652,355.32, of which $380,670.10 came from taxes and $271,685.22 came from other sources. At the same time the city spent $623,453.19, the report showed.

Electric Signs Given Approval

Electric current consumption in Santa Ana is due for a boost soon when signs given sanction by the city council last night are installed and turned on.

Councilmen okayed a marquee and neon sign for the new Walker theater, Second and Bush streets, and neon signs for the Coast Ice Cream company, 1195 North Main; Washington market, Main and Washington; Southern California Edison company, 208 North Main; Safeway stores, 502 West Fourth, and Mission bootery, 212 West Fourth street.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT: From Hyde Park to the White House

Governor Roosevelt waged a vigorous battle during his two terms to enact the progressive laws of his program. Each fight with the legislature brought forth laws of his designing: the St. Lawrence water power plan, farm relief, crop diversification, old age pensions, reforestation. He is shown here pointing out benefits of reforestation at Hyde Park.

An historical event in the years Roosevelt sat in the governor's chair was completion of the George Washington bridge, the world's longest suspension span, costing $60,000,000 and linking New York and New Jersey. Governor Roosevelt is shown severing the ribbon and opening the bridge to traffic at dedication ceremonies in 1931. It was built by the Port of New York Authority.

It was during his second term as governor that Roosevelt, in his annual message to the legislature at Albany, placed upon them the full responsibility for investigating the New York City government in search of corruption. He is shown here delivering that message. The Seabury investigation, which drew to a head after Roosevelt was nominated for the presidency, was climax of the governor's two terms. He presided over the spectacular hearing where Mayor James J. Walker and others were "on the carpet."

Before the governor's second term was well under way, Roosevelt was being boomed for the presidential nomination in 1932. This picture shows the governor as he received an enthusiastic ovation when he paid his first visit to his presidential campaign headquarters in New York City for a conference with James A. Farley, then chairman of the state Democratic committee.

NAME CRODDY PLAN BOARD MEMBER

One real estate man replaced another on the city planning commission last night. The city council accepted the resignation of W. B. Martin, and Mayor Fred C. Rowland appointed William F. Croddy to a three-year term.

Martin, whose term expired July 1, presented a letter of resignation in which he said he was not a candidate for reappointment.

Other members are Charles Walker, chairman; Mrs. Ora K. Heine, Ed Yost, and Charles Bressler, beside the ex-officio members, Fire Chief John Luxemburger and City Engineer J. L. McBride.

State Will Get $330,826 Aid for Public Health

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Federal aid for California's public health service under the social security act will total $330,826 for the 1937 fiscal year.

The California total was announced by Surgeon General Thomas Parran, who distributed $8,881,859 to all the states and territories for the protection of the public health.

California's share was made up of $235,336 on a population basis; $38,500 for special health problems; $46,990 for the training of public health personnel, and $10,000 based on the general financial needs of the state.

2402 airports and landing fields in the United States, 75 more than on July 1 last year. California with 192 airports and landing fields led all states.

Sharps and Flats From Political Band-Wagon

MANY SUBSCRIBE TO G.O.P. CAMPAIGN FUND

ESTES PARK, Colo. (AP) — William B. Bell of New York, chairman of the Republican national finance committee, today set a goal of 1,000,000 individual subscribers — "especially the small subscribers" — to the party's presidential campaign fund.

He announced that individual subscriptions, or the purchase of the participation certificates in denominations of $1, $5 and up to $1000, now total nearly 77,000. This is more than three times the 23,000 individual subscriptions obtained by the Republicans in 1932 the last presidential campaign, Bell said.

WOMAN LEADS G.O.P. CAMPAIGN IN EAST

NEW YORK. (AP) — Women will do more than half of the work in the political campaign this year, said Natalie Couch in discussing her plans for rallying women of the East to the Republican banner of Gov. Alf M. Landon.

The Nyack, N. Y., woman attorney who is running the distaff side of the Republican campaign in 17 Atlantic seaboard states added, "I believe women will be more active than in any previous campaign. I believe the majority of the women's vote will go for Landon."

Republican Chairman John D. M. Hamilton described her as a "clever politician." She has turned her law practice over to two male assistants for the duration of the "war."

Assistance League Entertains Hostess at Luncheon in Her New Beach Home

Group Turns Tables For a Day

Mrs. James Irvine Is Honored at Bridge Luncheon

Members of the Day Nursery Assistance league, who have shared twice a month the hospitality of Mrs. James Irvine in her home on Myford road, turned the tables yesterday and entertained her as their guest at a no-hostess luncheon at the Irvines' beautiful new beach home on the cliff at Corona del Mar.

The house, with its blue outer walls and white roof and its interior in the same color motif, provided the theme of the decorations for this party.

Luncheon was served at two large tables, each centered with a white pottery bowl of white Shasta daisies and set with pottery in blending tones of turquoise blue, apricot and Dubonnet.

Appointments for the bridge tables were also in the blue and white combination, the tables being arranged in the spacious living room, which gives view up and down the coastline and out over Newport Bay.

Sharing in the delightful afternoon with the league members yesterday were three guests invited from the regular substitute list, Mrs. Edward M. Hall, Mrs. F. C. Rowland and Mrs. Franklin West.

To Mrs. A. G. Flagg went the first prize for the afternoon's play, and a guest award was presented to a Mrs. Paul Dinsmoor of Piedmont, a house guest of Mrs. Irvine this week.

At the close of the day their hostess extended an invitation to all the league members and those on the substitute list for a bridge luncheon and business meeting on July 20 at the Newport Harbor Yacht club, when she will preside as hostess for the last time before her departure for a trip to the Orient.

Beauty on Schedule

By JACQUELINE HUNT
How long has it been since you have weighed yourself? Can you still wear the clothes you wore when you were married? Do you have a lovely skin? Are your hands so pretty that your bridge partners ask, "How do you do it?" Is your hair soft and becomingly arranged?

If you can answer "a week or less" to the first question and "yes" to all of the others, you have reason to be proud of yourself. If not, it is time for you to do something about your personal appearance. Remember your husband is proud of you, and you owe it to him to keep on being the same girl he married.

Of course, it costs something both in effort and money, but so does everything else in life that is worthwhile. A daily creaming and the application of a make-up base, rouge and powder will often restore the youthful look to a skin that isn't as clear as it should be.

In the extra minutes between your household tasks you can do the little jobs like filing your fingernails, applying a hand lotion or getting in a few good strokes with a hair brush. Rest your elbows on the table, lean your head on them and proceed to give your scalp a thorough massage.

Save at least five minutes for renewing your make-up before you sit down to dinner. If you are hot and flushed from cooking, sponge your face quickly with a pad of cotton soaked in eau de Cologne. Apply a little cream rouge while the skin is still slightly moist and blend just a hint of the color into your lips, then dust on your powder and you will feel cool and sweet.

VISITS PARENTS OF FIANCÉE

Miss Pauline Lockwood, whose marriage to C. A. McEldey, jr., of San Francisco, will be an event of August, spent last week-end in San Marino as the house guest of her fiancé's parents, Mr. and Mrs. McEldey, in San Marino. Miss Lockwood is the daughter of Mrs. Ethel Keifer Lockwood of 503 French street, Santa Ana.

The wedding is to be solemnized at 8 o'clock in the evening of August 15 at Santa Ana Wedding chapel, with about sixty guests in attendance, and a reception will follow at the home of Mrs. Jay C. Hamil, 1901 North Main street.

DORCAS PICNIC SLATED FRIDAY

Anticipating an attendance of 60 members and their children, the Dorcas society of the First Methodist church is planning to hold its annual picnic Friday in Anaheim park.

Each member is to bring table service, sandwiches and a covered dish for the luncheon, to be served at 12:30 p.m.

BIRTHDAY PARTY IN MOUNTAINS

To celebrate two birthday anniversaries—that of James A. Tarpley, which was July 6, and that of Alfred Forney, on July 4—Mrs. L. M. Forney, Alfred's mother, entertained at a joint birthday dinner party on the Fourth of July at their cabin at Lake Arrowhead.

Gathering to mark the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Tarpley, the Misses Betty Smith and Pauline Berry, Messrs. Joe McKee and Alfred Forney, and Mrs. Forney and son, Jack.

The two latter remained for the week in the mountains, where Mr. and Mrs. Tarpley will join them again Wednesday for another visit.

Mr. Tarpley and Mr. Forney had been up for a vacation the previous week, the latter returning to Santa Ana before the Fourth.

WEDDED SUNDAY AT CHAPEL

A bride and groom from Fullerton chose Santa Ana's Wedding Chapel for their marriage place on Sunday, when the Rev. M. Earl C. Bloss read the service which united Miss Florence Rosemond Bailey of 112 East Whiting street and Wilbur Cooper, 318 East Amerige street, both of Fullerton.

Mrs. Anna Ranker of Fullerton was the matron of honor and Mrs. LaRue McCarty of Santa Ana the bridesmaid. Mr. McCarty attended as best man, and the bride was given away by Mr. Ranker.

Tea rose lace fashioned the pretty bridal gown, which was enhanced by a beautiful bouquet of Tallman roses and bouvardia carried by the bride. Mrs. McCarty's dress was of grey organdy over grey tulle and Mrs. Ranker's of turquoise blue tulle.

An informal reception followed on the lawn of the chapel, where twenty wedding guests gathered to greet the newlyweds. The couple plan to live in Fullerton where the bridegroom is connected with the Southern California Edison company.

GOLD STAR GROUP GIVES LUNCHEON

With communications from members now in the East forming the high points of interest for the afternoon, Gold Star Mothers met yesterday in Veterans hall for a covered dish luncheon and social afternoon.

Messages were read from Mrs. Mary Croal, club president, who was sent as a delegate to the Gold Star Mothers' convention in Detroit, and from Mrs. Ruth Morris, now visiting relatives in the East. Those present included Mesdames Emma Christiansen, Hattie Perkins, Iola Sharp, Jennie Graves, Edith Reynolds, Susie Lamb and Myrtle Stull, and Bessie Windham, Huntington Beach.

QUIET WEDDING AT COURTHOUSE

Quietly married yesterday in the court of Judge Chris P. Pann at the courthouse, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Jacobs (Amelia Mae Langseth) are honeymooning for a week before returning to Santa Ana to make their home.

Mr. Jacobs is associated with his father, F. M. Jacobs, in Jacobs pharmacy on Main street, and has lived in the city for about five years. His bride has made her home here for a number of years and has a wide circle of friends.

GOLDEN STATE R. N. A.
With Mrs. Muriel Hanson as chairman of the committee in charge, Golden State parlor, R. N. A., will meet at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening in K. of C. hall. Mrs. Bess Simmons, oracle, will preside.

USE OILY CREAMS
If the skin is sunburned, chapped or windburned, cleanse it gently with oily creams rather than soap and water, says Steffi Duna.

FORMER MASON CITIZENS GATHER

Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Bowen of 810 South Birch street entertained a party of friends on the Fourth of July at a 2 o'clock garden dinner, appointing their table with red, white, and blue glassware and flowers.

Following a delectable meal, contract bridge was enjoyed, and social conversation about the town and people of Mason City, Iowa, the former home of the hosts and all their guests.

The latter included Mr. and Mrs. Fred Keeler of Westwood, Harry Keeler of Hollywood, Mrs. Myrtle Smith of Chicago, Mrs. Dell Allen of Long Beach, Mrs. M. Conroy and granddaughter, Jean Conroy; Mrs. Gertrude Huntley and granddaughter, Jean Huntley, and Mr. and Mrs. George Bowen, all of Los Angeles.

OREGON GUESTS ON WAY HOME

Mrs. Edna Bichan of 1402 Cypress street has been entertaining as her house guests her mother, Mrs. D. J. Steiner, her sister, Mrs. Z. G. Walker, and daughter, Ethel Elaine, from Medford, Ore.; and her cousin, Gordon Rase, and his friend, Roger Harmon, from Dickenson, North Dakota.

Over the week-end, Mrs. Bichan, with Mr. Rase and her two nieces, Joyce and Doris Samuelson of Ontario, Calif., took her mother and sister as far north as Oakland on the beginning of the return journey.

Mr. Rase and Mr. Harmon, who drove out from North Dakota, plan to spend some time in Santa Ana and vicinity.

BEACH HOMES ARE OPENED

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lynn Walter and daughters, the Misses Alice and Henrietta Walter, of Pasadena, are located at their beach home in Balboa for the summer months.

Other newcomers to the county's beach colonies this past week have been Judge William Rhodes Hervey and Mrs. Hervey of Newport Beach, who have opened their home here for the summer. Enjoying the hospitality of the Herveys during the gay vacation months are William Rhodes Hervey, jr., just graduated from Harvard, and Mrs. Hervey and their little daughter, Valerie, Miss Vivian Holmes, and Roger Hervey.

PICNICS MARK THE WEEK-END

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Nelson and children of 2327 E. Brelson celebrated the holiday week-end with two picnics.

On Saturday, the Fourth, they joined a group of Los Angeles friends in a delightful outing at the Balboa Island home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith of this city.

Sunday, the Nelsons, the Paul Ragans, the Joe Danigers, and the E. D. Yost, drove to Corona del Mar for another picnic and day of fun at the seashore.

JOINT OFFICERS' RITES PLANNED

Plans for installing officers of the Santa Ana Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West with joint ceremonies, to be held July 27, were made last night at regular meeting of the men's group in K. of C. hall.

Walter Hickey and Carl Schroeder, officers of the organization, were named to serve tomorrow night as installing officials for ceremonies of the San Bernardino order.

CALUMPTS TO SEW
Sewing circle of Calumpts auxiliary, U. S. W. V., will meet all day tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Ethel Sturtevant, 1420 West Ninth street.

Montanans Honored Guests

Mrs. W. H. Harrison of 1406 Bush street entertained with an informal at home Monday evening at her home, in honor of her house guests, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Ketchum of Missoula, Mont.

The couple were attractively decorated with many baskets of flowers, some of which were sent to the hostess by Mrs. F. E. Coulter and the Misses Lulu Minter and Bess Wood.

Pink and yellow pompon dahlias centered the tea table, at which Mrs. R. C. Tuthill and Mrs. O. H. Egge poured, Mrs. F. E. Coulter was a gracious dining room hostess, assisted by Mrs. Jessie White and Miss Bess Wood; and Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks and Mrs. J. E. Gowen served the ices.

Mrs. Harrison was assisted in the living room by Mr. and Mrs. Terry Stephenson, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. John Tammann, Mrs. F. E. Coulter and Miss Lulu Minter.

The house guests will be with Mrs. Harrison for several days. Mr. Ketchum has been principal of the Missoula County high school in his home town for 24 years.

PATRIOTISM IS DORCAS CLUB KEYNOTE

With baskets of red, white and blue blossoms forming brilliant nuclei for decorations in patriotic colors, Dorcas club met last night in the educational building of the First Christian church.

Mrs. W. D. Bassett led the 35 members and two guests present in singing "America," as the meeting opened. The guests were Mrs. Robb, here from Arizona visiting her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Robb, and Mrs. Norma White, who is staying with Mrs. Florence White, before returning to Oklahoma.

Mrs. Harry Becker was appointed chairman of the committee to plan the club's annual September banquet for members and their husbands. Assisting her will be Mesdames Rudolph Weisgerber, Albert Raymond, W. D. Bassett, Rex McGill, Charles Hill and Charles Lawrence.

In keeping with the patriotic theme of the meeting, Mrs. Albert Raymond reviewed "The Perfect Tribute," by Mary R. S. Andrews, a book dealing with Abraham Lincoln and the Gettysburg address.

Refreshments, carrying out the tri-color motif, were served by Mesdames Ted Faulkner, Joseph Braden, W. R. Robb, Joseph Ogle and Pauline Hostetter.

PALMERS HOME FROM JOURNEY

Mr. and Mrs. Horton M. Palmer of 426 South Sycamore have just returned from a two-month motor trip to South Dakota, going by way of the Grand Canyon and visiting with relatives and friends in and around White, S. D., their old home.

Mr. Palmer attended an alumni gathering of his class in Brookings State college in South Dakota, from which he was graduated in pharmacy forty years ago. Going on east, they visited St. Paul, Minn., returning west by way of the Black Hills, Yellowstone park, Bryce Canyon, Zion National park, Las Vegas and the Boulder dam.

GARDEN STUDY CLUB TO MEET

Santa Ana Garden Study club will hear talks on two interesting subjects when it meets Friday, July 10, 12:30 p. m., in Orange county park.

Mrs. Fern Tarbox will speak to the group on "The Garden as an Outdoor Living Room," and Mrs. Grace Berger will talk about "Flower Arrangement."

Members are asked to be ready to answer roll call with English garden verses.

Hostesses for the day are the Mesdames Jay Miller, Mary Redmond, Ruth Tourant and Lena McMillan.

TAKE VOWS IN PHOENIX

Mr. and Mrs. Bury Henard were expected home early this week from Phoenix, where they were married last Tuesday at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. C. Allman (Olive Baker), by the Rev. Mr. Frank Howell. The bride was formerly Miss Bertha Baker, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Baker, 711 South Flower street, Santa Ana.

The couple have been honeymooning at Grand Canyon and Boulder Dam, and will return here to make their home at 813 Birch street. Mr. Henard is engaged in carpenter work.

GIFTS TAKEN TO VETERANS

Taking with them gifts of candy and cigars for disabled veterans, Commander and Mrs. V. L. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Laub visited Sunday at the San Fernando veterans' hospital.

Each month, representatives of Jack Fisher chapter and auxiliary, D. A. V., call at the hospital, visiting Santa Ana veterans there and taking presents for each.

Youth Hints Given in Talk

Economic security, good health and a real purpose in living are the three provisions for a beautiful and enjoyable old age set forth last night by Ralph Smedley, secretary of the Y.M.C.A., in his talk before the Business and Professional Women's club.

Mr. Smedley took as his subject, "How to Keep Young and Beautiful," tying it into the club's July topic of "Recreation," and in the course of his address gave helpful advice for not only keeping young and beautiful but preparing now for advanced years.

What to do about economic security he declared himself unable to propound, but he considers it a matter of enough importance that it will soon have to be made a problem of economic, political and social study.

Learn To Play
Over good health, he pointed out, person can exercise control and can lay foundations of future health by getting recreation, learning to play, and breathing, eating and sleeping right—by conserving energy and health in early years, and above all, not forgetting to play.

Through a purpose in life, built up by present interests, hobbies and mental relaxations, a person will develop personality, or character, the one permanent thing in life, he asserted, and the degree in which he excels in these things is the degree in which he will live.

Relaxation Mr. Smedley urged as one of the necessary things in life, needed for the preservation of elasticity in the body and mind.

Mental attitude and physical fitness cooperate, he pointed out, to maintain life so that age will have no fears for us. Youth and beauty find their sources in the mental, the physical and the spiritual sides of life, and depend in large part on proper recreation.

Look Ahead

"So long as you expect things," the speaker concluded, "you are young. When you start living backward, you are old. So cultivate a hopeful attitude toward life, and keep on expecting things."

Four guests enjoyed the dinner at the Doris Kathryn with the club—Miss Chloe Foster, a teacher in the Chicago schools, who is visiting this summer with her sister, Miss Henrietta Foster, Mrs. Neva Sue McEvoy, a newcomer to Santa Ana and guest last night of Mrs. Artie Cleveland; Miss Smedley, daughter of the speaker, and Mrs. Betty Bodenhamer.

Miss Lena Thomas presided over the session with Genevieve Humiston presenting the program. During the business period Miss Thomas announced a district meeting for Sunday, July 26, at the California Carlsbad hotel, and named her committees for her term, chairman of which are as follows:

Chairmen Named
Education, Nora Glines; emblem, Isabel Lindsay; finance, Alma Karlsson; health, Catherine Stinson; international relations, Edith Thatcher; legislation, Anita Alexander; magazine, Minnie Mayhill; membership, Harriet Whidden; program, Genevieve Humiston; publicity, Eleanor Elliott; public relations, Martha Whitson; research, Mabel Whitney; recreation, Louise Kaiser and Adelaide Cochran, and transportation and reservations, Helen Gallagher.

Adding touches of color to the pretty appointed tables were little booklets prepared by Miss Ethel Walker, city librarian, in which she had enclosed in bright colors a list of books dealing with health and beauty subjects.

At the club's next meeting, on July 20, Miss Thomas will give her report on the convention which she recently attended at Lake Tahoe.

McINTOSHES HOME FROM TRIP

Having completed a 3500 mile vacation trip by automobile, Mr. and Mrs. Peter McIntosh have settled down for several months at their home, 1115 North Broadway.

The McIntoshes returned Thursday touring the west coast, penetrating as far north as Victoria and Vancouver in British Columbia. They took the inland route north, visited beaches in Oregon and Tacoma, Wash., swung up through Canada and stopped on the way down again in Tacoma.

Starting south along the coast highway, the couple made a quick return trip, driving 500 miles the last day.

MARTHA WASHINGTON CLUB

Mrs. Pauline Decker will be hostess tomorrow afternoon to members of the Martha Washington club, who will meet at 1 o'clock at her home, 217 South Main street.

Mary Stoddard Mind Must Be Trained to Eliminate 'Green Monster,' Put End to Suspicious

Jealousy is a disease of the mind. Is there a cure for it? A young wife wishes to know. Yes, I believe it is possible to overpower this green monster if the one in his clutches is the first step in the right direction by admitting that she is jealous. This trait can be eliminated only through will power and an untiring determination, and substitution. For instance, when she finds the tentacles of jealousy gripping her, she must immediately begin thinking constructive thoughts. Thus, gradually, she will find that it will be easier to turn from these destructive thoughts to good ones.

O. E. S. ENJOYS STUNTS, PLANS RECEPTION

Stunts and novel contests engaged interest of Eastern Star members of Hermosa chapter last evening, following their regular meeting in Masonic temple.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Tarpley and Mrs. Ella Strassberger headed the reception committee, and Mrs. Tarpley supervised the entertainment. Miss Henrietta Bohling and Wilford G. Lewis presided during chapter meeting.

Escort honors were accorded Mrs. Mabel Lambert, Laguna; Mrs. John Bruns, Santa Ana; Mrs. Frances Barnes, Santa Ana; Mrs. Eleanor and Leo Downing, Long Beach. Another visitor was Mrs. Marie Meyers, here from Tulare with her sister, Mrs. Marie Taylor.

Future dates reserved for chapter activities were announced as July 20, when the committee in charge last night will stage a surprise party; and August 29, when a reception is to be given honoring Mrs. Tarpley, deputy grand matron.

Watermelon was served at the close of the meeting by a committee headed by Mrs. Estelle Woodman. She was assisted by Mesdames Mabel Leach, Elizabeth Laury, Helen Smith, Mabel and Messrs. J. W. McCormack, James Tarpley, Wilford Lewis, A. E. Wallace, J. E. Gowan, Neal Beisel and Dr. E. Motley.

MRS. HORTON HOME FROM TRIP

Mrs. Roy Horton of 315 Cypress avenue returned home Friday morning from a three-months trip through the East and South, on which she visited points of historic interest and enjoyed visits with relatives and friends in a number of states.

Going east, she went directly to West Palm Beach, Fla., where she met her brother and sister-in-law and her sister, from Youngstown, Ohio, and joined them on a motor trip up the coast and to Ohio. They visited among other places the national capital, where they enjoyed a tour of the important buildings, New York City, calling at the NBC studios and the RCA building, and Boston.

Yountown and other towns in Ohio, as well as interesting parts of Pennsylvania, were later included in Mrs. Horton's itinerary, one of her most interesting recollections being of a visit to the Drake museum in Titusville, Penn., a memorial to the man who started the oil industry.

On her way home, she visited relatives of Mr. Horton in Lake Forest, just outside of Chicago.

SPEND FOURTH ON YACHT

Dr. Peryl Magill and her sister, Miss Julia Magill, Santa Ana, were guests on the Fourth of Dr. Floyd Swift and Mrs. Swift of Oxnard, on their yacht, the Mollou, a 56-foot boat that has won many trophies.

Fifteen guests were aboard when they went to Santa Monica to witness the start of the Honolulu race, the Mollou accompanying the racing yachts several miles.

Dr. Swift entered the Mollou in the 1931 and 1932 Honolulu races, winning first in his class and a beautiful trophy in one of them.

The guests were served luncheon and dinner aboard, and came back to harbor over moonlit waters. The Santa Anans reached home Sunday evening.

ENJOYS FOURTH OFF HIS SHIP

Among visitors from far away who participated in the gala Fourth of July celebration Saturday down at the Irvine beach setting, to which more than 150 guests were invited, was Edward Johnston Haddon, son of Sarah Johnston Haddon of 202 1/2 South Sycamore.

Mr. Haddon, engineer on the S. S. Golden Hind, recently put into port at Los Angeles harbor at the end of the Japan-North China run, and is visiting his mother here while his ship is being overhauled. He and Mrs. Haddon were both among the guests at the Irvine party.

Mrs. Sexton Hostess Today

Bright summer flowers decked the rooms of the J. C. Sexton home, 1407 Spurgeon street, this afternoon when Mrs. Sexton entertained members of her bridge club at a dessert course followed by several hours of cards.

Mrs. Charles Blackburn, Mrs. D. E. Liggett were invited as substitute guests, taking the places of Mrs. Fleetwood Bell and Mrs. Charles Downie, today's absences.

Members sharing in Mrs. Sexton's hospitality today were the Mesdames C. F. Skirven, W. H. Williams, Alex. Brownridge, F. H. E. A. J. Lasby, Emily Munro, J. H. Bower, W. B. Martin, and J. H. Turner.

FIFTY-FIFTY CLUB PLANNING BOX SOCIAL

Still very much in the offing, but already an anticipated event in their club circles, is the annual box social and all-day bridge party for which Fifty Fifty club members will gather on Sunday, July 26, at the beach home of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Forster, McKinley avenue, San Juan Capistrano.

Activities will start about noon, with bridge as the chief diversion but sharing honors with beach sports during the afternoon hours. At supper time, the boxes of supper brought by the feminine members of the club will be spread out on the tables for supper, and an informal evening will follow.

FAMILIES FETED BY CARD CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Robinson of 1802 Spurgeon street opened their home Saturday for the annual Fourth of July party which Mrs. Robinson's contract club gives each year for their husbands and children.

Six o'clock dinner was served in the garden. Seated at the festive board were Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Reinhaus and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steinberger and two daughters, and the Robinsons and their young daughter, Mrs. Couden, the other member, and her family were unable to be present. Following dinner, the group enjoyed fireworks, as a fitting climax to the happy day.

DUO TO LEAVE TOMORROW

Accompanied by her houseguest, Miss Louise Molzahn, Mrs. Adelaide Lowe, 803 Orange avenue, plans to leave tomorrow for a three weeks' automobile vacation trip as far north as Yosemite.

On the return trip, the two women plan to stop at Carmel, to visit Mrs. Lowe's niece, Miss Kathryn Smith, superintendent of the Carmel hospital.

Women Are Heedless of Foot Health

By C. M. CRISMAN, M. D.
A beauty column recently made this very wise suggestion: the best facial a woman can take is to buy herself a comfortable pair of shoes.

Just why women think that looks and style in footwear are more important than comfort is hard to say. But if pointed toes, high heels, and tight straps are the vogue, then those styles are accepted, regardless of the wearer's build or occupation.

Just at the moment, low heels are in vogue for evening wear and it is an encouraging gleam of intelligence. On the other hand, sports shoes have degenerated in many instances into a mere bundle of straps caught together at some central point on the top of the foot and affording the foot little actual support.

The general formation of the foot depends upon the treatment accorded it during the period of growth, and parents cannot begin too early to take precautions toward providing for a pair of well-developed feet for the child.

Neither shoes nor stockings that are seriously outworn and especially outgrown should be tolerated. From the standpoint of economy, better far, let the child go barefooted than to cramp his tender, growing feet into shoes that are crowded or too small.

The actual support of the foot depends more on the size and shape of the heel than upon any other feature of the shoe. There is an endless argument against the high heel, but even its height does not distress me so much as the proportions always given to the high heel. It is often a frail narrow spike stuck under the very center of the heel of the wearer. This means that the tip end of the long bone extending downward from the ankle joint is made to carry the weight of the body. All the wonderful provision of nature in giving us a firm yet elastic cushion for distributing the shock of the step in walking is dissipated by removing the support beneath it.

MORE ABOUT STRIKE BOSS

beginning to seek the answers to these questions.

Who is the Strike Boss? And why?

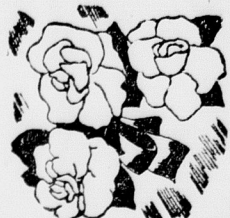

Who are his aides and advisors, his lieutenants and henchmen? Are there any Americans in the group, men with education, experience and judgment through which they should know better than to incite Mexican pickers?

Some of the men lying in hospitals today are in critical condition. If one of them should die,

FLOWERS

For the Living

TODAY, a bouquet to: DOYLE GILBERT of Santa Ana, who is on his way to Randall Island, N. Y., to take part in the final American Olympic games tryouts, in the hop, skip and jump event. Gilbert, aided by Santa Anans in making the trip, will have the best wishes of the entire city.

THORN in the FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE

According to some leaders of the pickers' strike, one can't make a living at picking; while growers can show that "all is not gold that glitters," especially what grows on trees.

But talk to a good honest picker, one who wants to live, and is willing to let live. The picker has the pleasure of discussing the problem with one who has worked in the groves for several years.

Among other things, he said that "it's like this: Pickers can make big money the first part of the season, but it's hard to make much later in the year. That bonus is a good thing. Some fellows drink up all they earn, and without a bonus, wouldn't have a cent at the end of the season."

Well, this strike is a losing proposition to all concerned. With all that heat back East, now's the time to sell our citrus, not quarrel. Records show that lemon prices rise an average of 60 cents per box for each degree the thermometer rises! Let's bury the hatchet, even if necessary to leave the handle sticking out, so we can resume the war later and not strike while the iron is hot—meaning the weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Marks of Newport road entertained Mrs. C. B. Green and her three sons over the week-end. Mrs. Green lives across the line from Blythe, Calif., in Arizona, her husband being connected with the Arizona highway patrol.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Sharpless of Newport road took Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lasby of 315 East Seventeenth street to their cabin at Arrowhead lake as their guests for several days last week.

Mr. J. B. Irwin of 2333 North Main street chartered a party of young girls on a week's outing recently at Lake Arrowhead. Among the group were her granddaughter, Miss Lorraine Tarbox, Miss Elizabeth Winbiger, Mrs. Dorothy Davis, and Miss Chelena McBirney.

William Waddell, Jr., of 1901 Spurgeon street, left Friday to spend the summer with his mother's relatives in the lake country of Minnesota.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Couden of 602 South Birch street and Miss Clara Richards of 2417 Oakmont are on a motor trip to Vancouver and through British Columbia and Canada. On the way north, they stopped at Crater lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest N. Winbiger of 2004 North Ross street entertained as guests over the Fourth Mrs. Winbiger's brother, Floyd Cooley, and Mrs. Cooley, of Fresno, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. A. Buckingham of Willard, Ohio. The group drove to Huntington Beach Saturday evening, taking the children of the Winbiger family to see the fireworks.

Miss Natalie Neff of 422 West Santa Clara street and Miss Jean Leive of 2419 North Main street, are going to Idyllwild this week for a week's vacation.

Mrs. Lida M. Park of Riverside was the guest over the Fourth of July at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ethelbert Johnson, and family, 2412 Valencia street.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Yale, and the later's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Weinberg, all of Los Angeles, spent Sunday with Mr. Yale's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Yale, 1009 North Broadway. The younger Mr. Yale is in the county clerk's office in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Newcom of 1517 North Main street spent the Fourth of July in Long Beach with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Steinberger and daughter, Margaret Ann, of Glendale, spent Sunday with the Robert Steinberger family of 820 South Ross street. Miss Steinberger will spend a week visiting her cousins, Nancy and Rena, young daughters of the Steinberger home here.

Guests this week of Mrs. Ferris Reid, 510 South Garvey street, are her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Davault, here from Avenal. The trio plans to view the San Diego exposition during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Shaw, 714 West Eighth street, stayed at their Valleyview Park cabin, near Crestline, over the Fourth of July and Sunday.

County WPA Manager Dan Mulholland was in San Diego yesterday conferring with district heads relative to work arrangements.

Who will step forward and take the blame? Who will come out in the open and say he issued the order to kill?

Will the Strike Boss come out of the shadows?

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Newman

Talk at Church

Illustrating his talk with pictures, Raymond R. Peters, national secretary of intermediate work for the Church of the Brethren, will talk at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the local church, Ross and Camille streets.

With Mrs. Peters, he will be a guest of the Rev. and Mrs. Herma Landis, during his two-day stay here. The two couples attended school together in Chicago.

Preceding Peters' talk, the regular Wednesday evening church program will take place. The recreational hour will begin at 5:15 p. m., followed by pot-luck supper at 6:30 p. m. The Peters are traveling among church camps this summer and plan to leave for Yosemite Friday morning.

All persons interested in any part of the program tomorrow evening are invited by the Rev. Mr. Landis to attend.

Crash Victim in

Fight for Life

Russell H. Hurst, 30, Los Angeles, was reported in a critical condition today at the county hospital, where he is unconscious with a skull fracture sustained Sunday.

Hurst was the driver of a car which was in a collision with another automobile at First street and Harbor boulevard two miles west of Santa Ana, in which Mrs. Alma Lindsey, 76, Pasadena, was killed and three other persons were injured.

Plan Field Day

A tentative date of July 17 has been set by Assistant Farm Agent V. M. Corey for a sugar beet and bean growers' field day, with confirmation of the date awaiting word from university specialists, who plan to attend.

Noting of response of plants in plots where varying amounts and kinds of fertilizers have been applied will be one of the features of the proposed field day, Corey said today.

MARIAN MARTIN SPORT FROCKS IN TUNE WITH SUMMER EVENTS

PATTERN 9920

The cream of the fashion crop—and dashing in its appeal, is this jaunty frock by Marian Martin! The sports mode for summer fairly sparkles with interest and variety, playing up those gay, colorful cottons which are so easy on the eyes and budget! Choose shantung or crisp pique and get busy on this smart sportster. It's easy to cut and stitch, especially with the detailed instructions of the complete, diagrammed Marion Martin sew chart. Think how cool and comfy sleeves (all in one with the yoke) and round, young neckline. There's plenty of room for action, too—for the simple bodice is daintily gathered to the yoke, while the trim, straight skirt boasts a wide inverted pleat. Wouldn't button accents be smart in contrast!

Pattern 9920 may be ordered in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch fabric. Send fifteen cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and style number.

Swagger Jacket "Takes You Places"

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

Summery Crochet Completes Every Ensemble

PATTERN 5653

A baby swagger, the smartest coat fashion of the season, is especially smart when done in crochet. Work one for yourself, of string or yarn—it's mainly in a simple stitch with plain crochet for cuff and collar bands. Make yourself a plain crocheted skirt, pattern 5533, and you'll have a complete suit.

In pattern 5533 you will find complete instructions for making the swagger jacket shown in sizes 16-18 and 38-40; an illustration of it and of all the stitches needed; material requirements. Price of pattern 10c.

To obtain these patterns send 10 cents each (20 cents for both) in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

Grain Market

CHICAGO. (AP)—All of today's sweeping gains of wheat prices were more than wiped out in late dealing.

Heavy rains reported at a number of points in the Northwest, notably around Regina, led to a general selling, and quotations broke fast. The wheat market, however, was marked to well below yesterday's finish, and bearishly influenced all other grains to some extent.

Wheat smashed downward almost 6 cents from early tops, but rebounded about a cent just as the last closing hour expired, 1 1/2c under yesterday's finish. Making the Best Standard Better

WE'VE just bumped into an interesting explanation of why the average American lives better than the average citizen of any other country in the world.

Prof. J. Henry Richardson, of Leeds University, England, says: "American standards of living are high partly because of rich natural resources—but mainly because the workers are supplied with so much capital equipment and power."

Commenting on the savant's explanation, N. W. Ayer & Son, advertising agents, has issued this tabulation:

Certainly there is more power per industrial worker available here than in other large countries:

	Number of workers	Total horsepower	Horsepower per worker
United States	8,822,000	42,869,000	4.86
Great Britain	4,551,400	11,636,700	2.56
Italy	4,005,812	8,578,000	2.14
France	3,894,900	6,917,100	1.78
Canada	678,200	1,474,300	2.17

Similarly, with regard to the amount of money available per worker—i. e., the sum-total invested in plant, mechanical equipment and operating capital:

The latest published figures of the U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue give the total assets of all manufacturing corporations reporting their balance sheets as $46,271,128,000. (This does not include their investments in other companies, and in government bonds, etc.) If we divide this by the number of workers employed by these industries, we arrive at a figure of $7641 of operating capital for each worker.

This is an absolute minimum. If we add the $11,481,494,000 which American manufacturing corporations have invested in other companies, etc., we get $9536 per worker. Making due allowance for duplication, it appears that the true figure lies somewhere between $7641 and $9536.

It's valuable to know why we enjoy the highest living standard in the world. Because we want to boost that living standard even higher. It's still far short of abundance for everyone. There are millions in America who need better homes, food, clothing, medical care and other things which round out material well-being.

Common sense tells us that if we want to prosper in the future as we have in the past, we should stick to the same methods of economic and political progress. This does not mean, of course, that we should rock along without trying to improve our men and institutions. Just the contrary.

It means that we should concentrate on the best points of the American system—get rid of the worst, if we can—and push right ahead, preserving individual opportunity and freedom, while at the same time increasing national ability to transform natural resources into services and products which all can enjoy.

Detectives investigating WPA workers reveal they have "uncovered only three cases of political solicitation and activity." The "activity" part is questioned.

A Boy's Best Friend

NO MATTER how horrible the things they say about her son, a mother always stands at his side. Young Jerry Vance, of Chino, and a pal are in Orange county jail. The law charges that the boys kidnaped, robbed and shot an unoffending man.

The story of the crime as told in the newspapers is one of almost unbelievable depravity.

Yet Jerry Vance's mother says: "You just ask anybody around Chino about Jerry Vance. They'll tell you he's a good boy."

We don't know if young Vance is guilty. But we do know that he is facing one of the most serious moments of his life because of the accusation—and that, although his mother is grief-stricken, she is at his side.

Every boy who believes that a career in crime has anything worth while to offer should consider the plight of Jerry Vance—and his mother.

A reader asks how to identify old china. After Japan's next move, we'd suggest a magnifying glass.

Golden Harvest of Southland

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA has a prosperous season ahead of it. The citrus crop is expected to be profitable, for a change. More tourists than in years are summering here. That means millions for all.

These millions will help to buy new cars, to modernize and build homes. The money will trickle through country and city. Almost everyone will gain.

It's the old, old story of our friendly, favorable climate, causing crops to spring from the fat acres and thousands of visitors to flock in—while drouth and similar disasters plague less favored parts of the world.

The fact that we have the finest climate in the world may not be news—but it is a story that everyone finds mighty good when it is demonstrated, over and over again, year after year.

No news is good news—but try to tell that to a woman bridge player.

Recalling Governor Merriam

HOW about recalling Governor Merriam? Is it worth the time and trouble? We do not think so. For the governor, if he wishes, can make the state pay the expenses of presenting his side of the case—and this cost legally can run as high as $10,000,000.

Besides, recall is the treatment for malfeasance, misfeasance or nonfeasance in office. It is not appropriate for reactionary philosophy, lack of ability or just plain dumbness.

We hope that the recall measure is not invoked. It is too costly and it does not fit the case. The best thing to do under the circumstances is to suffer until Merriam's term is over—and then vote him out the usual way.

Whimsies

of O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK—Young Alfred Vanderbilt, just a shade past his majority, has taken a place among America's foremost sportsmen. Trainers say his knowledge of horse flesh is as keen and accurate as that of a veteran. His democracy is symbolized in the greeting of his stablemen.

They call him Al. And they say, Vanderbilt now has 82 horses and has won to date 36 races. At the last count he stood third on the list of successful owners for 1935 and there are many betting he will lead the list at the end of the year.

While the youthful horseman makes an occasional appearance in the jazz mosques with parties of friends, the gayer side of life is not his bent. He frequently attends prize fights with his mother, the beautiful Margaret Emerson, and is well liked by foremost pugilists, being an especial buddy of Tunney.

Romantically, he is likely the most auspicious of the marriage catches for angling and ambitious mamas. But thus far he seems to play the field—squirting this debutante about for a while and then showing up as suddenly and enthusiastically with another.

New York's recent sudden liquor price war took on the galloping furor of a Yukon gold rush. It became a fever and people who did not need or want liquor joined the parade. The story goes it happened this way—The trivial incident that so often foments big wars. A customer in one establishment could not find the brand of Scotch he wanted at proper price. As he was leaving the salesman ran an arm under the counter and came out with something grand at one third the regular price. It wasn't long until prices were being changed hourly and big establishments were jammed as badly as immediately after repeal. Every nightfall found a madhouse of feverish buyers and tired clerks. Fifths of famous whiskey brands went as low as $1.90. Genuine brands of excellent white wines in small bottles went to 29 cents.

A weekly topical magazine went into a salterello over the cartoonist Gene Ahern's sign-up with a newspaper syndicate. I get a trifle disturbed at so much airing of such privacies—facts and figures as to the wages involved, etc. It strikes me that publicity a good of this sort of transaction should be glossed over. People should be able to draw up contracts without three-sheeting and bands playing. The tendency is growing to turn everything possible in America into a circus of Roman holiday—the Hauptmann execution being a nauseous example.

Cartooning, by the way, is one of the most profitable professions yet the most evanescent. There is rarely a down hill haul for the limner. He simply goes to the top then over a cliff and is seen no more. This is not a scattery individual experience but the fate of most all. One day at the peak and next they go out like a light. Nobody knows why. Just one of those things.

Lure of the metropolis note: Many who live on the fringe of New York are so isolated as residents of Timbuctoo. This morning came a letter from a former Manhattan telephone girl who has not been in the city for 10 years. Yet she lives in Maplewood, N. J. I saw an elderly sculptor near Westport, Conn., who left New York after a 30-year residence and has not been back in 26 years.

Innumerable imperishable phrases, ejaculations and names came out of the World War. There was something gripping, for instance, in that designation of "The Lost Battalion." And what simple poignancy in the bleak phrase, "No Man's Land." Yet to my mind—and being a Scot I'm perhaps prejudiced—the most striking of all was that of the "Scottish Highlanders" known across all the battle fronts as "Mad Ladies from Hell!"

One of the poets described the approach to the final paragraph of this column today as a day when thoughts are just "cold, dull and blind, like cocoons hanging from branches in the gray woods of mind." The usual George Cohan formula to leave them laughing when you say good-bye is expert philosophy. And a good trick if you can do it. But I'm not up to tricks or comedy today. "A neighbor's dog who brought the world nothing but happiness lays stiff and lifeless from a poisoner's action. A frisky, joyous fellow who barked at my spats and backed away. Always clowning!" (Copyright, 1936)

SCIENCE NEWS

A machinery manufacturing company has started production on a new saw which is used to prune trees. The saw is powered by a gasoline engine and is mounted at the end of a hollow aluminum pole. The saw, of circular design, is whirled by a flexible drive shaft. Without climbing a worker can trim off dead or useless limbs as high as 15 feet above the ground. The 60-lb. unit is pulled from tree to tree on a small toboggan sled.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—There is something almost uncanny about Roosevelt luck. Whenever he seems to need a four-leaf clover, he stoops down and picks one up. On the heels of his Philadelphia acceptance speech, he was looking one another over and wondering which was which among the "economic royalists" suddenly the Steel Institute stuck its head out and proclaimed: "Look at us! We're it!"

Furthermore, the steel moguls spent about half a million dollars on full page advertisements in some 300 newspapers in making the proclamation. And this was an amazing break for Mr. Roosevelt.

LANDON'S UNCLE

For one of the guiding geniuses of Steel Institute publicity is none other than William Mossman, uncle of Gov. Alfred Mossman Landon.

Mr. Mossman is public relations director of Jones and Laughlin, the big steel firm which had its PWA contract canceled after its suit with the national labor relations board, by which the board was held unconstitutional. Irwin B. Laughlin, a heavy contributor to G. O. P. campaign funds, was made ambassador to Spain by Hoover.

While Mr. Mossman is no Charlie Schwab or Jimmy Cagney, he does seem to play an important part in the public relations of the Steel Institute, and Democratic campaign sleuths are busy digging up all they can about him. So far they have found that he did some steel lobbying in Washington, and is alleged to have once held up the sessions of the Pennsylvania state senate for two days while he went to New York to confer with the Steel Institute. All this, however, is small potatoes beside the main issue involved, that of organizing 500,000 workers in the giant iron and steel industry. In the end, this may not bring Mr. Roosevelt as much luck as the four-leaf clover just plucked.

Both sides are ready for a knock-down, drag-out fight.

LABOR SIDE

On the labor side, the unionization drive has been launched after weeks of careful planning. Behind John L. Lewis and United Mine Workers stand 10 big unions, with membership of 1,000,000 dues-payers. This army is one-third of the enrolled strength of the A. F. of L. Into the fight the United Mine Workers have poured $500,000, and other unions have pledged large amounts.

Their G. H. Q. is in Washington, under the supreme command of Lewis. Field headquarters are in Pittsburgh in the swanky Grant building, where various big steel companies have offices. One of these, the Weirton company, which upset the NRA collective bargaining code, has protested against the steel workers having headquarters there. But for one year at least the lease cannot be broken.

AUTO WORKERS NEXT

For 50 years the steel industry has resisted unionization. The last great effort, by William Z. Foster, in 1920, resulted in complete victory for the employers. During the NRA, union membership rose to 100,000, then dropped out of sight with the end of Blue Eagle. The Amalgamated Steel Workers now has a membership of only 10,000 out of the 500,000 in the industry.

The United Mine Workers have a compelling interest in the battle. For the steel companies have their own mines—"captive mines"—which have no wage agreements with the union. These can undercut prices, force unionized mine operators to break the agreement. Other unions cooperating with the miners plan to make this the beginning of a great unionization drive. If they succeed, they will tackle next the automobile industry and other mass-production fields.

EMPLOYERS' SIDE

The steel moguls know this. And they are operating with just as close-knit an organization as labor.

Their plan—practiced in the past—is to transfer work from one mill to another if strikes break out in one locality. All members of the Steel Institute will fulfill an order for a member on a cost basis, if that firm is tied up by strikes.

Therefore, chief fear of the union moguls is that strikes may break out prematurely in isolated mills. They want a strike in all mills or none at all. One strike in one or two mills is sure to be lost.

Actually, the union moguls don't want any strike for some time—not until they are well organized. Miss Perkins also is for this policy.

Strategy of the steel moguls is to provoke a strike before organization has too far progressed. This should not be hard to do. By firing leading unionites, the embryo unions will demand action, and G. H. Q. in Washington eventually will have to yield.

Some of Roosevelt's advisers fear that a bitter large-scale steel strike may be thrown upon his doorstep just before elections. They claim to have inside information that the steel moguls deliberately plan this.

There is no doubt that the steel moguls plan to get the coal and automobile industries to cooperate if possible. Such a strike would create terrific industrial upheaval, might put a serious dent in Roosevelt's prosperity.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

One factor inspiring confidence in steel labor organizers is a friendly governor in Pennsylvania. George Earle, pro-labor Democrat, will not call out state troops to aid the steel moguls. Also, striking miners can count on Harry Hopkins' relief rations. Tom Kennedy, lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania, is secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers. . . . Roosevelt was informed of the entire steel organization plan by John L. Lewis two weeks ago. Lewis, at that time, was irked over the failure of Roosevelt's senatorial lieutenant to pass the Guffey coal bill. But he came away from the White House smiling. . . . In charge of the steel workers' union is Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers. Three regional offices are under him, each in charge of U. M. W. officials. They, in turn, have 200 organizers.

WASHINGTON—A board of navy officers is being selected to investigate the source of the explosion on the battleship Maine, now in Havana harbor. The board is headed by the navy department, and will examine the hull of the ship as the water is taken out of the cofferdam in which it has been raised to the surface.

County Auditor Calvin D. Lester this evening will lead a beautiful bride, Miss Isabel Churchill, to the altar in Glendale. The Rev. Charles H. Secombe of the Congregational church here will officiate at the ceremonies. After a week's honeymoon in Catalina, the young couple will reside in their new house on North Main street.

Santa Ana lodge 236, I. O. O. F., installed officers last night. District Deputy Grand Master William A. Goodwin of Fullerton officiated. Officers installed were noble grand, S. C. Jenkins; vice grand, B. F. Beswick; recording secretary, R. W. Mead; financial secretary, W. J. Morrison; treasurer, Ed F. Waite, and warden, C. C. Chandler.

Mrs. S. H. Pendleton was given a genuine surprise yesterday afternoon when a group of her neighbors called to bid her farewell. The Pendletons will move soon to the A. B. Gardner home on East Third street. Those who called included Mesdames Mead, Moody, Kelly, Caldwell, Huffman, Hamilton, Carnahan, Vartie, Allen, Gardner, Johnson, Merigold, Waters, Tingley, and Miss Cox.

Ground breaking for the California Pacific International exposition at San Diego is set for July 19-22. There will be three parades a day, sports, yacht races, athletic contests, auto races, a street fair, wild west show, etc., etc.

Wrecking crews were busy over the Fourth picking up damaged cars. One garage was so full it had to park the cars on the street. Maybe this exhibit helped reduce the number of accidents. Hundreds of autoists viewed the auto wrecks involved in the West First and Harbor boulevard fatality. Their appearance sent a shudder through many a driver, and aroused him or her to the danger of reckless driving, to the risk involved to themselves and others through a violation, or rules. You can't always "just get by." Sooner or later the unexpected happens. Then it is too late.

Remarkable Remarks

The man who lives with figures all the time is the nuttiest of all. He gets to thinking that the world is full of twos and threes, and of course we all know it's full of trolley cars and lamb chops.—Dr. Burgess, ahead of the English department, Union college, Schenectady, N. Y.

Sanctions are to stop war. They are not designed for purely punitive purposes. There is only one way to alter the course of events, which have taken place so far, and this is to go to war. Stanley Baldwin, British statesman.

Leadership's Obligations

By Capt. Richard W. Harvey

EDITH'S NOTE—This article is written by the public relations committee chairman of the local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars from material obtained and conclusions reached during a nation-wide survey made while Capt. Harvey was in active service.

The problems arising from conflicts between the interests of groups, classes and nations are very largely due to failure to understand the reciprocal nature of proper economic relationships in national and international competition. There is room in the world for all peoples and all classes to live peacefully and helpfully together when they decide to enter into right relations with each other. The fundamental fallacy with which we are concerned is overemphasis upon the conception of fair competition as aggressive and destructive menace.

This belief is fostered by a chronic fear of overproduction, which is based upon the delusive reasoning that there is only a limited amount of work to be done, and that when one worker is given employment first, there will be no gainful employment for the remaining workers. There is no real danger that there will not be work for all. It is evident that so long as human needs remain unsatisfied, there can be no such thing as general overproduction. There is such a thing as unbalanced production, and this is the condition which we see prevailing throughout the world at this time. This condition results from the disorganization of Europe and our own internal disturbances. However, the people of the United States live upon a level of comfort far above that of any other people in the world, and yet the majority of families in this nation live far below the level of their actual needs and equitable aspirations.

The present problem of the United States government and the leaders in all lines of industry is to organize, coordinate, integrate and balance all the agencies of production so as to obtain the largest possible supply and most equitable distribution of the essential commodities and services that minister to the general comfort and welfare. A knowledge of economic principles and an understanding of the complex nature of modern life, and of the reasons for things as they are, are necessary to the accomplishment of this.

There is a public obligation upon the men who, by reason of their political preference or actual abilities, hold the positions of power and influence in the nation, states, counties, cities and industry to accept a larger responsibility for the good of all than they have felt and evidenced in the past. Since these men desire the public to develop a constructive outlook and spirit, they must exert themselves to that end. They must exemplify that spirit themselves. They must show themselves outside the narrow circle of their own private interests and definitely identify themselves with the general interests. They must help give that direction and supervision to all national and individual interests which is so much needed. The leader of a national and local politics and industries will have to assume full responsibility of their obligations to the public whether or not they so desire. Whatever goes wrong with the public for lack of intelligent guidance and affects the living conditions of the people unfavorably, reacts upon the United States Government, upon all phases of industry and upon our social institutions. The majority of individuals do not think very deeply or reflect very profoundly concerning causes; they judge mainly by visible results. Therefore, it is the duty of the United States government and the leaders of industry to produce results. It is the duty of these leaders to show the individual how to be efficient, to make him prosperous and to convince him that he has a personal and proprietary interest in the industrial and political affairs of the nation. It is their duty to win and hold the public's confidence. They must be easy, especially in the light of recent past performances, but in all fields it is one of the conditions of leadership. The men who cannot measure up to these requirements simply fail as leaders. There must be hope and a prospect of improving present conditions to inspire men to work toward this essential end, with hearty spirit. When the conditions of life seem to grow harder and the future opportunities for the children appear to be no better, there will be discontent, and then government and industry, who appear to have power in their hands, will be held responsible. There is a perpetual struggle between the constructive forces of our citizens and the destructive forces of blind agitation, in which the former invariably win because they alone can produce beneficial results; but those constructive forces will win more readily and surely when they have a clear perception of their responsibilities and of the conditions to which they must conform. They must satisfy the individual that efficient, orderly, uninterupted industry will bring better results to him than continued turmoil and confusion. The really valuable citizen and civic leader is he who understands our social and economic system, and is qualified to guide public opinion and action along the way of steady, prosperous and permanent advancement.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town
With C. F. SKIRVIN

It is seldom I visit the scene of an automobile wreck, but Sunday forenoon I went to West First and Harbor boulevard where a death rode the highway, and because of some one's carelessness a sweet little old lady took her last ride. So long as the human equation is at the wheel accidents will result. How to prevent them has been the thought of traffic minds, but indications are for a continuation of fatalities until mechanical devices are so perfected they can control the situation, and make driving fool-proof—which is expecting a lot. Intersections vary in their degree of risk, but traffic signals mean the same as a dangerous crossing as they mean at crossings where the risk is less.

Si Fluor says I'm too nice a boy to wear a cap, which gives me the appearance of a gangster. Si, I'm willing to make a change any time you are willing to make an investment. I've made some changes lately, and according to report none for the better.

My friends used up considerable of my time Monday forenoon trying to persuade me that they enjoyed the Fourth of July. One particular individual who had been at the beach and looked like a peeled onion assured me he had a glorious time. That statement was so at variance with his appearance that it burned me up. I rather take the burn I got than the one he had.

A friend volunteered the information one day last week that Ed Stafford had a birthday on the July calendar. Birthdays have a habit of appearing sometime during the annual cycle. Ed's has been appearing for many years. More than 50 of them have been spent in Santa Ana. The same house he occupied half a century ago still sits across from the post-office, recently remodeled to bring it up to the modern California style. Ed is now out on Edgewood street where he puts in most of his time nursing orange trees and enjoying himself. An interesting historical reminiscence out of his storehouse of Santa Ana memories will appear in this paper soon.

It's a hard task to suppress the average small boy—and something like the larger one. When a boy buys a firecracker he wants to shoot it. He did. All day the Fourth from every direction firecrackers were blowing up. It was too much to expect the police to be everywhere at the same time, so there was little interference and a minimum of damage and annoyance. If that method of expression is used to announce one's patriotism, it's all right with me. But during the year the historical reasons for it should not be neglected.

V. L. Motry, Exalted Ruler of the Elks, reports to me that Galton Elks are to arrive in Santa Ana city limits 5:30 p. m. July 10, and prepared to put on an entertainment at the clubhouse. The Texas boys will go to Long Beach from Santa Ana. They are en route to Los Angeles to attend the seventy-second annual convention. Hope it don't rain. I've got a hunch that the Galveston boys want to tell us something about the Texas centennial. Inasmuch as we have a few more days before their arrival some additional news is likely to percolate in about the visiting brothers. In any event Santa Ana will be given the opportunity to act as host for the white and purple elite route to the convention city. If they have something to tell us, we should have something to tell them.

Post card floats in bearing this information: "Tell the world we are seeing it." Signed Bob. The souvenir card would make the drouth stricken midwest sigh. It's a picture of the Horseshoe Falls at Niagara. There's enough water, properly distributed, to take all the farmers off the WPA rolls. The question of transporting the water has not been solved, but what a relief it would be. I assume, and have had the assumption confirmed by those familiar with the hydroglyphics, that the card is from Bob Mize, who started on a trip to Maine and Canada, and seems to be getting there.
